Christmas message from the Mayor

At Christmas season, I want to personally praise the Department of Public Works employees for the fine job they did in decorating the city for this joyous occasion.

Each employee also seemed to enter into the feeling and spirit, by fixing up their offices and showing their friendliness, not only this season but all year long.

I feel this has been one of the best and most productive years in the city of Romulus. It's the citizens and city workers who deserve all the credit. There's been a great pulling together by our people to make Romulus what it can be—truly the best city in the world.

We should be a thankful people this time of year. We're especially grateful to all the generous people who helped the Goodfellows raise their collections from last year's $1,100 to $1,828 this season. It will provide a much better and happier Christmas for many needy families. Let's remember what this season represents—the birth of Christ. Let's remember His teachings about love to our fellow man, doing unto others as we would have them do unto us, and just plain trying to help people as we travel life's road together. I was raised in church, and while I've not always gone as much as I should I still remember what I learned as a boy in church and at my parents' knee. We need a heartfelt return to old fashioned honesty, integrity and sincere interest in each other's needs. Let's respect our elders, the rights of others and the honest convictions of each one in our city.

We're thankful for the blessings our city has received. By the end of the year, we'll have processed applications for almost $12 million in construction — almost a million dollars a month.

Our city has dedicated, hard-working men and women who are the real unsung heroes of the growth in Romulus this past year. Everywhere I go I hear other cities singing the praises of our city and it makes me proud to be connected with a fine place like Romulus. Two major airports, expressways and major railroads make our city a veritable gold mine for industrial firms who want a productive place to locate.

We are growing in every area of city life and are working together to give our people a rich spiritual, cultural, recreational and business heritage. Our senior citizens deserve credit for their fine leadership and inspiration and we admire all groups who help make this a better, more active city.

Yes, we're very thankful for the fine people who live in Romulus.

And I'm thankful for this opportunity to wish everyone in Romulus the happiest Christmas they've ever had and a healthy, prosperous, productive year in 1976.

Water, sewer rate fight

Ex-mayor leads petition drive

By JIM BRADLEY
Staff Writer

Terry L. Troutt, ex-mayor of Romulus who was defeated in 1975 by present mayor James Stewart, turned in more than 900 signatures Friday on petitions seeking to nullify last month's 39 per cent increase in city water rates.

If Troutt and his supporters have enough valid signatures, City Council will have two choices. It can either rescind the increase or, if it chooses not to void the increase, residents of Romulus will vote on the issue next September.

Stewart and Troutt, bitter political foes, both feel they are right. Troutt said: "When I left office I was in the process of having the entire water and sewer ordinance updated. Some type of water rate increase was needed, but they didn't raise any other rates, just the cost to the people."

Mayor Stewart contends that Troutt paid William S. Munger and Associates a total of $6,000 to draft a water and sewer ordinance that was never enacted by city council.

Troutt says: "They didn't do anything with the tap-in fees or inspections fees. An example of the inequities is that a builder pays $210 to connect with city water and sewer while the actual cost to the city is $570."

Troutt was named chairman of the petition drive which was organized by the Romulus Democratic Club. Wilson, who is president, explained the club's part in the petition drive. "The Democratic Club's position is that the citizens of Romulus should not have to subsidize the tap-in fee of new homes being built in order to encourage builders to come into Romulus. As we discussed the matter, we felt we should take some action, and Mr. Troutt was named chairman of the drive."

Troutt said one of the main issues was the administrative charge, or rent, that the water and sewer department pays for using space at its offices at city hall. "In 1974, the water department was charged $694,353 in rent for using space at city hall under Hyle Carmichael's administration. I lowered the rent to $297,450 and Mayor Stewart increased it to $352,353," Troutt explained. "The yearly payoff on city hall and the library is $151,350."

Stewart countered by saying Troutt didn't understand the intricacies of administrative charges. "That amount is not just for rent," Stewart said, "but for all salaries, expenses and other costs relating to water and sewer department work."

Robert Plank, a member of the petition drive and a former Asst. Director of the D.P.W. who was dismissed by Stewart, called for an in-depth audit of the water and sewer department. "Just because we get a 39 percent increase in water rates from Detroit does not necessarily mean each homeowner should pay 39 percent," Plank said.

Stewart responded by pointing out that the city council had chosen, hired and paid the accounting firm of Icerman, Johnson and Hoffman $19,500 for an audit, and they produced a four-page report.

"How much more study than that, do they want," Stewart asked. He then quoted the first two paragraphs of the Oct. 22 audit report: "In recent years, the water and sewer fund has operated at a loss. This is primarily due to significant cost increases, for water purchased and sewer charges. An analysis of the gross profit indicates that current water and sewer revenues are inadequate to cover the corresponding costs. To improve the financial position of the water and sewer fund, and to comply with section 15.6 of the City Charter, user rates should be increased to meet the total costs and accumulated deficits of the Water and Sewer Fund."

"We understand that the City Council is currently considering a 39 percent rate increase. That increase will not be adequate to cover increased costs and prior losses in the water and sewer fund. We recommend that a study be made, to determine the rate increase needed to make the water and sewer fund financially sound."

"We believe this is an unfair charge against the people in its present form," Troutt said. "The council has to get facts and figures they can believe in before they can act responsibly. Another thing, we had a surplus of over $800,000 when I left office, don't tell me that's been spent already."

Stewart pulled out a map which showed several sewer lines along city roads. "See these four sewer lines?" he asked. "The city council recently approved the expenditure of more than $800,000 just for those four lines alone, not to mention all the other areas we want to serve. Mr. Troutt just doesn't know what he's talking about when it comes to finances."

Stewart said his finance department had thoroughly gone over the audits of Troutt's two years in office and discovered a total deficit of more than $3 million in the Water and Sewer Department.

"We're glad Mr. Troutt is bringing up the matter of spending money. This is where we have all the figures, and the truth will show exactly how deeply in debt Mr. Troutt left the city of Romulus," Stewart said.

"When Mr. Troutt came into office in November, 1973 the audit showed the water and sewer department net loss at June 30, 1973 was $422,106.38. When Mr. Troutt set the millage for 1974-75, he removed 4 of the 7 mills from water and sewer, and put the 4 mills in the city's general fund, cutting revenues for water and sewer by $825,692," Stewart added.

"Stewart said that Troutt proceeded to transfer $416,955 from the water and sewer contract payment to receiving fund and then into the general fund, thus adding that much more money to the ever-growing water and sewer deficit."

"If Mr. Troutt had left 7 mills to pay for water and sewer costs, as he should have done, we wouldn't be in the financial mess we're in today," Stewart said. "But the changes he made took a total of more than $3 million away from the water and sewer department."

So the controversy rages, with Troutt making charges and Stewart countering. And if the number of valid petition signatures is sufficient, the voters may get the chance to render their verdict.

'Whole thing a big lie' says Stewart

Romulus Mayor James Stewart is boiling mad over what he calls a distorted story which appeared in last Wednesday's Detroit News.

The story outlined the events of a Dec. 12 confrontation between Stewart and Wayne County Sheriff Deputies at a restaurant in Wayne. It quoted a police report describing Stewart as "obviously highly intoxicated, eyes glassy, speech slurred and incoherent."

"The story was a complete fabrication from start to finish," Stewart said. "I know who made the phone call to the Sheriff's Dept. claiming that my party was being loud and obscene," Stewart said. "It's just another attempt to discredit, and make me look bad."

The event took place after Stewart and two Romulus police reserve officers, went to the Prince and the Pauper Restaurant in Wayne after completing their job of selling Goodfellow papers. "We were hungry and simply went to get a meal," Stewart said. "When we entered the restaurant, I noticed a man immediately leave and I figured something was up."

"About 30 minutes later, two deputies from the Sheriff's Department came into the bar asking who was creating the disturbance," he said.

Stewart said the owner and waitress both told the officers that there was no trouble, but Sheriff's Deputies Larry McKimmon and Peter Males asked the Romulus reserve officers to step outside.

In the parking lot they took the Romulus reserves' guns, after which, Stewart and the Wayne County Deputies got into a strong argument. McKimmon radioed for assistance, and five other deputies appeared on the scene, including Lt. William Harris, who has had major differences with Stewart in the past. After the argument, deputies returned the reserves' guns.

"I didn't even know that a report had been filed until the Detroit News reporter, who had a copy of it, called me the following Tuesday," Stewart said. "The funny part is that five officers made out reports and everyone of them used almost identical wording," he contended.

"Even Franz Heideman, third in command in the Sheriff's Department, agreed with me that the reports were almost identical."

An eye-witness, who asked to remain anonymous, agreed that Stewart was not drunk. "He definitely was not drunk, in fact, he had just started eating when he went outside. I don't know who was involved, but there was no reason at all for the confrontation with the Sheriff's Deputies," the eye-witness said.

Future bright for cancer patient

By JIM BRADLEY

There's a happy Christmas story developing for Dawn Compau, the 14-year-old Van Buren Township girl who doctors fear might lose her leg to cancer.

Because Dawn's mother, Mrs. Gordonia Compau, has a combined monthly income of $800, the widow with eight children was informed she could not receive money for the operation.

However, since residents of Van Buren, Belleville and Sumpter Township heard of Dawn's need for donations for surgery, response has been great.

Financial gifts of friends and loved ones made it possible for the Belleville North Junior High School student to fly to Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York to be examined by experts. And Saturday Dawn flew home by plane to Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

The doctors believe they can operate on Dawn and save her leg by inserting an artificial bone from the hip to the knee. However, such an operation costs more than $3,000. A trust fund has been set up at Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, for concerned friends to donate toward that expense.

Supervisor Patricia Cullin and Ed Schroeder, along with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rafalski and many other Van Buren residents have headed the financial drive which Mrs. Cullin says should go over the needed $3,000 mark.

"The response has been fantastic," Mrs. Cullin added. "And what makes it even more wonderful is the fact that Dawn is able to be home for the Christmas holidays. It's the generosity of everyone that makes this very heart warming."

Mrs. Cullin explained that while the operation itself would cost approximately $3,000, there are many other expenses involved.

"Officials still are not sure just what financial help Mrs. Compau may get for Dawn from hospital grants or other sources, but we're very optimistic," she said.

Mrs. Compau recently received a letter from Sloan-Kettering hospital which stated: "The National Cancer Institute has awarded a grant to Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center to help support the expenses of patients receiving treatment in certain protocols which are being studied by the physicians at Memorial Hospital.

"The program of therapy in which your child presently is enrolled is one which is considered appropriate to be supported as an investigative program. Therefore, it is planned that a portion of your expenses for medical care will be defrayed by funds available from this grant."

"Before grant funds can be used, it will be necessary for us to attempt to recover whatever payments may be available from the various health insurance policies you may hold."

The letter further stated that "if at any time in the future it appears that the patient's interests will best be served by a change in therapy, that change will be made and it is possible that financial coverage under the terms of this grant may be terminated."

The letter closed by saying: "If funding is no longer available...you will be notified, and from that time on, expenses engendered in the management of your child's illness will in the future be considered the responsibility of you and whatever insurance resources are available to you."

"People are responding to Dawn's need and we've heard from people in Ann Arbor, Westland and many other cities as well," said Mrs. Cullin. "An operation like this, with its many other expenses as well, can add up to a whole lot of money. We've set up the trust fund at Township Hall and the fund is carefully administered so that all the money goes for what it's given."

Dawn's school principal, Jim Richendollar, visited her at home to give her the greetings of all her classmates at Belleville North Junior High.

Dawn will spend the holidays at home before returning to Sloan-Kettering Hospital in New York for the operation, which is scheduled for Jan. 20.

Pets' slaying baffles police, VB authorities

By JIM BRADLEY
Of The Enterprise - Roman Staff

Three children of a Van Buren Township family have suffered through the painful experience of having 11 of their pet animals killed in recent weeks. And the slayings are shrouded in a mystery that even has the police baffled.

The slayings took place in the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. James Kirkland, 7135 Sheldon Road. The pets killed include a lamb, three chickens and seven rabbits.

The animals were pets of the three Kirkland children — Clinton, 13, Alan, 11, and Leslie, 8. The lamb was slain about a month ago, and two 16-gauge shotgun shells were found next to the dead animal.

Clinton found the dead lamb. And it was about two weeks ago, again Clinton's turn to feed the animals, when he went out before school and found three chickens dead.

He came running back to the house, crying...

He came running back to the house crying that the chickens had been killed. He then went out to the rabbit cages, where he found all seven slain, one with its head cut off.

Mrs. Kirkland recalled that Clinton was very upset when he discovered the slain pets. She said the teen came running and yelling: "Why would anyone do a thing like that? Why would they kill our pets?"

Although two 16-gauge shotgun shells were found near the dead lamb a month ago, nothing but animal footprints were discovered after the last incident Dec. 7.

Mrs. Kirkland called the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol immediately after the incident, but was disappointed with the response.

"A Wayne County Sheriff's patrolman came to our front door but wouldn't even look out the back door to see the dead pets, let alone investigate," Mrs. Kirkland said.

She added that the officer acted very indifferent and wouldn't go out to look at the animals or try to find any tracks leading away from the area.

Mrs. Kirkland was advised by friends to call the Van Buren Township Police. Chief John R. Willet immediately went out to home to investigate. When he found footprints of large animals, Willet notified two other township employees.

Gene Bracken, chief ordinance officer, and Dog Warden Randy Hughes also investigated and came to the conclusion that the killers may have been two large dogs, which reportedly have been roaming in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Kirkland notified the Michigan Conservation Department, and an investigator came out the same day. His findings led him to believe that a large raccoon, possibly weighing 20 pounds, may have done the damage.

And so the mystery of the slain, dismembered pets remains, and Mrs. Kirkland is baffled as to who or what killed them.

"We're on real good terms with our neighbors, and everyone has treated us very nice since we moved in last summer," she said.

Then in a voice choked with emotion, Mrs. Kirkland said: "My children asked me if they could have a pet lamb for Christmas, but I'm afraid what might happen and don't know what to tell them."

Board meet cancelled

The regular Van Buren Township Board of Trustees meetings of Dec. 28 and Jan. 11 have been cancelled, according to Clerk Doreen Craven. A board meeting has been rescheduled for Jan. 4.

In other Van Buren Township news, Treasurer Dorothy York said the property tax deadline has been extended to Feb. 28.

Ford recognizes trio as 'outstanding youth'

Three residents of the Belleville-Romulus community have been recognized as Outstanding Youth of the Bicentennial Era by the representative of the 15th Congressional District.

Congressman William D. Ford recently presented Congressional Medals of Merit to Susanna Maziarski of Romulus, Ronald McKelvey of Belleville and Spring Arthur, also of Belleville.

The trio was among 13 young residents of the 15th District selected by a citizens committee for their meaningful accomplishments.

Miss Maziarski, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maziarski of Romulus, at age 19 is a certified gemologist at DeRoy Ringsmiths of the Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn.

Recognized for her "role as a good will ambassador (international relations) and for her volunteer work", Miss Maziarski was a teacher's assistant and was involved in the choir, theatrical productions and volunteer work for ALSAC, March of Dimes and Neighborhood Services during her high school years.

Her volunteer work also took her into convalescent centers where she danced for residents and retarded children.

A karate enthusiast, Miss Maziarski's excellence in that sport took her to Korea for a karate tournament. While in that Asian country, she made numerous friends, many of which she still corresponds with.

McKelvey, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKelvey of

Belleville,

A senior at Belleville High School, his Medal of Merit recognized his "special act and work of love, personal hardship and persistence and a credible job in representing his community and the State of Michigan".

The 17-year-old accompanied the Michigan contingent of the Bicentennial wagon train as an outrider, leaving for Valley Forge, Penna., on May 4 and arriving in the Keystone State two months later. The wagon train was plagued by bad weather for much of its eastward journey.

Miss Arthur, the daughter of The Rev. and Mrs. Joy Arthur of Belleville, is a freshman at Adrian College. The 18-year-old was selected by the citizens committee for the Bicentennial honor for her "outstanding achievements and consideration of her fellow man".

Miss Arthur, while attending Belleville High School, spent from two to 2½ hours after school each day working with underprivileged children.

She also worked to raise money to pay her expenses to travel to Appalachia one summer and Alabama another to work with the poor.

Of the awards, Congressman Ford said: "So often the activities and accomplishments of our young people go unrewarded. The purpose of this award is to recognize the accomplishments of our young people."

Goodfellows say 'thanks'

The Sumpter Goodfellows newspaper sale to help needy families was a big success, according to Mike Huziak, president of the group.

"We're really grateful to all the people who made this a big success," Huziak said. He praised the Sumpter Social Civic Club salesmen and the women who provided the breakfast.

Others listed by Huziak as playing a big part included Sumpter merchants, Saturday night bingo players, PNA and Lodge 2984.

"Supervisor Robert Demski, Clerk Jim Reeves, Trustee Cecil Hall, Mrs. Connie Beudrie and the police and firemen did a fine job of selling," he added. "We're also thankful to The Belleville Enterprise newspaper for the fine write up and picture."

"We will be able to help 65 needy families with food orders and candy for the children."

"God bless them all."

'Who dun it?'

Clinton Kirkland, 13, (left), was the first to discover the slain chickens and rabbits in his backyard recently. He and his brother, Alan, 11, cried when they learned of the deaths of their pets. Large animal footprints were the only clues to the deaths of the chickens and rabbits.

'Golden arches' open doors as city's newest eatery

The golden arches of a new McDonald's Restaurant heralded its opening Tuesday at 9777 Wayne Road in Romulus.

The fast-food eatery is the first one in the area by the well-known franchise and its operators are promising inexpensive, high-quality, family dining.

"You'll get our famous McDonald's food, our famous service — with a smile, a 'thank you,' and a 'come again' — and our famous McDonald's value," a spokesman said.

Grand opening festivities are planned soon for the newest pair of golden arches.

In Belleville

Belleville's Christmas Parade Saturday drew the largest number of floats in the event's history and many were adorned with pretty girls, dressed up children and other colorful displays. Belleville's two queens shared the same convertible (photo at left) as Homecoming Queen Cindy Hudge and Belleville Junior Miss Lisa Pellechia (right) flashed their radiant smiles. Sumpter Township also provided a float carrying four lovelies as Sumpter Bicentennial Queen Lynda Moody was accompanied by court members Marisa Roman, Shelly Gibson and Debbie Zander. St. Anthony's Teen Club had a float entitled: "Christmas is for all", which featured large, stuffed animals skiing and tobogganing down a snowy slope. Children from Cub Scout Pack 734 were decorated as large Christmas toys, a man and his woman dressed in garb that was in style a century ago and three small children wore cloths which portrayed them as visitors to the birth of the Christ child. More than 30 floats and units took part in what was described as "Belleville's most exciting Christmas Parade ever". — ANP photos.

Commissioners take oath of office Jan. 6

The 1977-78 Wayne County Board of Commissioners will be sworn in at the first meeting of the new year scheduled for Jan. 6 in the City-County Building Auditorium.

Four newly-elected commissioners, replacing out-going board members, will join the 27-member board, which is the legislative body of Wayne County government.

The first matter of business the new board will take up is the election of a chairman and vice-chairman.

John Barr, commissioner from Dearborn Heights, and Jarrette Simmons, who represents District 4 on Detroit's far eastside, have served as chairman and vice-chairman respectively during 1976. Both are Democrats and have announced their candidacies for reelection.

County Clerk James R. Killeen will administer the oath of office to the entire board at the 2 p.m. meeting.

The four new commissioners, who won their positions in the November general election, are Norbert Wisniewski from District 2 which includes Harper Woods and a portion of Northeast Detroit, Clarence R. Young from District 10 which involves part of Southwest Detroit, River Rouge and Ecorse, Loretta Young, representing District 15 in Northwest Detroit, and Alex Pilch from District 22 which includes the western portion of Dearborn and the northern part of Dearborn Heights. All are Democrats.

Wisniewski defeated Commissioner Robert D. Mahoney who has served on the board since April 1974.

Clarence Young will replace Commissioner Harry J. White who lost his election bid after serving on an appointed basis since April 1976.

Loretta Young defeated Commissioner Lee E. Flowers who has served since January 1975.

Alex Pilch, currently director of the Dearborn City Beautiful Department, will serve the Dearborn district served since May of 1969 by the retiring Commissioner John Lesinski. Lesinski announced his retirement this year, after devoting much of his life to public service, including 8½ years on active duty in the U.S. Navy and 14 years in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Also taking the oath of office will be the following commissioners who were elected or re-elected by the voters of their districts:

— George F. Killeen, Jarrette Simmons, Jackie L. Currie, Edward K. Michalski, Conrad L. Mallett, Rose Mary C. Robinson, Maxcine

Young, Paul G. Citkowski, Samuel A. Turner, Arthur M. Carter, Clemens E. Bykowski and John J. Korney. All are Detroit-Democrats.

— Also, Ervin A. Steiner, Jr. (R-Grosse Pointe); Chester Wozniak (D-Hamtramck); Richard E. Manning (D-Redford); Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia); Thomas Presnell (D-Westland); John Barr (D-Dearborn Heights); George Hart (D-Dearborn); William G. Berry chairs WCRC

A well-known Detroit attorney has been elected chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission and the Board of Public Works.

Michael Berry, an attorney specializing in governmental legal affairs, succeeds Freddie G. Burton, who held the chairmanships for the last two years. Berry has been vice-chairman of the 3-member road commission board and has served on the board since 1967.

Following Berry's election, the board elected Commissioner Joseph M. Herron to the post of vice-chairman. Herron became a board member in June 1975.

Burton, also a prominent Detroit attorney and former Wayne County commissioner will continue to serve on the board, having recently been re-appointed to a second 6-year term.

The 2-year terms become effective Jan. 1.

The road commission, responsible for the construction and maintenance of more than 1,300 miles of county roads, also operates Detroit Metropolitan Airport, and, as public works trustees, the sewage treatment facilities for Wayne County.

Residents should douse, not fan, fire of discontent

A call for the return of common sense to Romulus politics is now an order.

Defeated Mayor Terry L. Troutt has filed petitions with the township clerk containing 900 signatures supporting a reduction in the new water and sewer rates.

Troutt has taken this action in spite of provisions in the township's charter making it illegal for the city to engage in deficit spending.

We can understand the support a proposal such as this might gain. Lowering or eliminating any of the financial burdens placed on Romulus residents is a cause that will attract many supporters, but those supporters must accept the fact that the city can not indefinitely subsidize water and sewer rates.

City council in an attempt to resolve this problem, hired a certified public accounting firm to go over the water departments books, and submit a report to council on their findings.

The accounting firm, with a council authorized budget of $19,500, reported that the City of Romulus had lost $750,000 in the last fiscal year, and would be in serious trouble without an immediate increase in water and sewer rates.

We questioned the wisdom of council authorizing almost $20,000 for this audit and then arguing with those charged with the responsibilities of conducting it.

We questioned the legality of the cities continued inaction when section 15.6 of the Romulus city charter reads: "The rates and charges for any municipal public utility including the furnishing of water, sewer, light, heat, power or gas, shall be so fixed as to meet the cost of such utility."

In other words, the city 'may not' charge less for a utility, then the real cost of providing that utility.

The accounting firm hired to conduct the audit of the water and sewer department, found that in the last year alone, the city has spent $750,000 more, to provide those utilities, then they had collected.

The State of Michigan's local audit division, The Municipal Finance Commission, The Romulus City Charter and the City Attorney, have all agreed that it is improper for the city of Romulus to continue on this present course.

Troutt is doing a disservice to the citizens of Romulus. Fueling this controversy over water rates, might temporarily allow him to appear as a crusading knight, protecting the interests of the citizens, but in the long run, no matter who is sitting in the mayor's office, problems and question of this type can only be resolved in one way, by bringing the total community together and operating by law, and common sense.

We hope that Troutt has not forgotten the view from the mayor's seat. We hope he remembers that his first concern must be for the total community. We hope that Troutt, and all of the good people who support him remember, it is your city too.

Uncle SOCC, socks it to 'em

MR. AND MRS. MICHIGAN PLAYED BY THE PEOPLE OF MICHIGAN

It's the typical Christmas story, Santa Claus, wide eyed kids, sugar plums, and mistletoe. But this story has a twist.

It begins with a family named Michigan. Father works in an auto plant, and just when he had started to recover from his long lay-off, he was hit by the strike.

Mother manages the home, budget, and the children. Things got tough for mother when the family income disappeared, but she managed to hold things together, partly by finding a temporary job, but mostly, by tightening the families belt.

The Michigan children, Rep and Sen were big for their ages, and full of boyish mischief. It seemed to mother that the children took delight in driving their parents to the brink of financial ruin.

On one occasion, Sen with typical juvenile aplomb, removed his fathers credit card and ordered his entire tree-house redecorated, topped off by the installation of the world's only sugar-pine-wet-bar. Another time, the boys liberated the keys to the family car, and with the unsolicited credit card that Rep had received, drove to Las Vegas and joined a convention of family planners for a two-week workshop on the methods of procreating the "Doo Doo Bird."

Father Michigan had tried everything to control the kids, but boys will be boys, and punishing them too severely would surely stifle their creativity, and make social misfits of them, when they grew up.

They felt that while the boys were inconsiderate and selfish, they were just the result of their own inattention. Living on a small budget, with father working two jobs, and mother often away at work, left little time to properly raise the kids. They could not bring themselves to punish the children for their own shortcomings.

The boys, young and immature, not able to really comprehend their parents' plight, took full advantage of the situation.

Late one evening, after watching the "late late show," Rep got his chemistry set down, and inspired by the show's monster movie, decided to create one of his own.

After several months, with the help of Sen, the two were able to create a marvelous cyborg they named Uncle SOCC (after sock it to them). The two felt that with proper programming, their new creation would once and for all free them from the oppressive discipline imposed on them by their parents.

Uncle SOCC, who they introduced to their parents as a long lost uncle, soon proved to be worth the months of effort.

Mr. and Mrs. Michigan, being simple folks, were soon taken in by the very impressive Uncle SOCC, who the boys had now programmed to convey a strong protective father image. In fact, the clever programming of Uncle SOCC, soon allowed him to assume the role of the family advisor, and never was his advice ignored.

Rep and Sen were overjoyed. They had now overcome the counter-productive discipline previously imposed by their well intentioned, but ignorant parents. And by simply manipulating the programming of Mr. SOCC, they were able to actually control the will of their parents. If they wished to stay up and watch "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman," they simply directed their creation to suggest to their parents that this was good for the children—and Uncle SOCC's advice was never ignored.

Readers are invited to send their opinions on events of public interest to the editor of The Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne, 48184. Each letter must include the writer's signature, address and telephone numbers. Letters which do not include the above criteria will not be published.

Names will be withheld from letters to be published only for good reasons. Those reasons must be included on the letter. The request "do not use my name" is not enough and those letters will be published with names. The editor reserves the right to edit and condense letters.

The Michigans began to notice the change in their children, but being simple folks with complete confidence in Uncle SOCC—they remained confident.

Christmas of 1976 was soon upon the Michigan family and their dreams were full of impossible fantasy. Mr. Michigan, for months, had been thinking of that new tire, (for his 62 Falcon) he hoped to find under the tree, while Mrs. Michigan saw visions of teflon coated frying pans. The boys engrossed in their travel folders were attempting to make the impossible decision of either the Bahamas (conference on human development) or Bermuda (conference on tropical game fish) for their next junket. Mr. SOCC appeared to be quite unaffected by the season and just continued to whirr softly.

It is said, that Christmas brings out the best in people and so it was with the Michigans. Mr. and Mrs. Michigan realized the foolishness of their dreams of tires and frying pans and decided to pool their funds for a more worthy purpose. Mr. SOCC had suggested that the only possible way that Rep and Sen could properly develop, was for them to attend the "one month only" Christmas conference on Robert's Rules of Order—being held at Lake Tahoe.

Mr. Michigan, who by this time was considerably less simple, (under the guidance of Mr. SOCC) quickly realized the merit of such a trip and concurred...besides...no one ever ignores the advice of Mr. SOCC.

Plans were quickly made, belts tightened, household goods sold and tickets bought. The boys dressed in their finest, anxiously awaited father Michigan's return from the used car lot, while the cab driver out front honked his horn.

The thick blanket of snow had muffled the sound of tapping on the window. How long it could have been going on, no one would know. The cab was making a terrible racket. When the boys finally discovered the broken bodies of their parents' it was almost too late.

Beneath the window was Mr. Michigan lying in the blood stained snow. Next to him was the motionless form of his wife, choked to death by a discarded red tape still wrapped tightly around her neck.

With Mr. Michigan's dying breath he described the tragic event:

He and Mrs. Michigan, after successfully trading down from their '62 Falcon, to a clean '55 Impala with air, had pocketed the $12 profit and had driven home where they were met by Uncle SOCC at the front door. Uncle SOCC after greeting them, explained that he felt the time had now come for him to take a more active role in the raising of the children. This being the case, he felt he would have to attend the Robert's Rules of Order conference with the boys, but the problem was, he was $13 short of the first-class air fare, and he advised the Michigans to provide that sum.

Being beaten to death by your own Zippo lighter, engraved 20,000 accident free hours, is certainly a bad way to go, but go he did. After all, no one ignores the advice of Uncle SOCC.

As their father died in their arms, the boys flew into a rage. Just who did Uncle SOCC think he was? He had dispatched Mr. and Mrs. Michigan in cold blood. He had taken the lives of their parents, their flesh and blood, and even worse, he had eliminated father Michigan before they had the chance to program Uncle SOCC to suggest to him that they really needed an increase in their allowance.

All of this, Uncle SOCC had done for a lousy $1, just when their father had been offered an 8-hour Saturday down at the plant.

The flight from Lake Tahoe was smooth, the beer sweet, and the nuts salty. As the great silver bird swooped down low over the end of the runway, Rep and Sen stared at the crumpled newspaper in their hands. The headline burned into their minds like a Texas branding iron.

First the left wheel touched down and then the right, jarring the boys out of the hypnotic trance induced by that terrible 60-point type. Everything was gone—their home, parents and even Uncle SOCC. They had nothing left; they would have to start all over again.

It had been a brilliant stroke of luck running into Uncle Sam at the Robert's Rules of Order conference. Uncle Sam, a kindly old gentleman, but very tight with a buck, naturally offered to take the boys in when he learned of the Michigan tragedy.

The voice came over the cabin speaker, barely audible over the screaming engines, "Welcome to Washington National Airport, the temp—"

Tearing their eyes from that crumpled headline, Rep jumped up and with a single motion smashed the paper into a ball and hurled it to the floor. Sen reached over to the center seat and picked up his magazine. "Rep" he said, "I think I have found the problem. The book said that with the new 2N404 transistor, the thermal protection circuitry is less likely to malfunction. When we get to Uncle Sam's place, I think I can remanufacture Uncle SOCC in time to have him suggest to Uncle Sam that our allowance be increased."

The paper being pushed down the aisle to the waiting dust pan, found an errant gust of wind, floated into the air and out the door of the plane. Caught by the backwash of an idling jet, the newspaper soared high into the air, only beginning to lose altitude after crossing the wide expanse of runway. Slowly, silently leaping to the ground, the chronicle of the Michigan tragedy, was again caught by a breeze and blown against the airport boundary fence where it became forever entrapped, broadcasting its message to the heavens. Around town

Fetch the ketch 'J'

I got home late the other night, and since my lovely wife Fran was working, the kids were starved.

Now before you flick up you bic and fire off a nasty letter criticizing me for leaving the children alone, let me explain. The oldest of our four kids is Dennis Jr. He stands just about six feet tall, and at 14 is probably already smarter than me.

Dennis is the homestead's firm guiding hand on the nights that Fran has to work late. And now that you're disarmed, back to the story.

Not feeling much like going the Hamburg ala Melmac Route, I invited the kids to join me in a trip to the golden arches. Acutely aware of their victory over ptomaine, they piled into the car joyfully discussing the relative merits of the Big Mac versus the Quarter Pounder.

Since I am a concerned parent, and dedicated to teaching my children the value of a dollar, I allocated each of them, $1.40 for their purchase of Ronald's delights, quite by coincidence this $1.40 times 5, exactly equaled the seven dollars I had in my wallet.

Pulling into the parking lot, amid the now violent exchanges, over whether the QLT was better than the Cheese Quarter Pounder, I almost re-decorated the hood of my car with a four inch steel post filled with concrete, used to prevent people like me, from re-decorating the interior of McDonalds with their three ton automobiles.

Fortunately the lines were short and the service fast. When my crew got to the window—the moment I was dreading—we began the ritual of ordering and changing our minds.

It is amazing to me that a kid, who just two minutes ago, would have fought anyone on the block who didn't agree that the Big Mac was the greatest, now is unable to decide between the Quarter Pounder and the QLT.

In all fairness though, you must remember that with the $1.40 limit in effect, it was a positive challenge for the kids to see who could come away from the counter, "The Winner", with the least amount of change in their pocket.

The orders staked on two trays, we moved to a table and began to unload. That is, I began to unload, Dennis had just about finished his Quarter Pounder, and I didn't have the top off my coffee yet. But this is the second part of the "go out to eat contest." Each of the kids race to see who can finish first, so he can then "bug" the rest of family for hand-outs.

Jennifer our eight-year-old, having developed a very good left hand coupled with unbelievable reflexes, began a leisurely attack on her french fries, when she discovered, she had no ketchup.

Mark our wiry thirteen-year-old, realizing he had no salt, gallantly offered to fetch the ketch for "J", and off he went. Dennis no longer having anything to do (his plate wasn't even cold), went with Mark. I had just finished stirring my coffee when Mark reappeared.

"Dad" he said, "there is a bunch of money laying on the floor in front of the counter." Not being able to remember what money looked like, I followed him back to the counter to check. Sure enough, laying on the floor, just behind a young woman standing in line, was a folded wad of money with two twenties visible on the outside. "What should I do dad?" Mark said. Thinking that my wife had done a pretty good job with those kids (people have been shot for less in Detroit), I suggested he pick it up and give it to the manager. The startled manager reacted with disbelief he didn't seem to have the slightest idea of what to do, finally he said, in a hoarse voice "Thanks kid."

Heading back to the table to finish stirring my coffee, the thought occurred to me that maybe I should tell that lady standing in line that Mark had found the money, and ask if she might have dropped it. After giving her the word, I turned and went back to the table while she frantically tore through her purse.

I opened my big Mac and proceeded to eat, but at a faster than normal rate, remember the kids were done, and were eyeing my french fries.

You know dad Mark said, that was a lot of money wasn't it? "Yes it was," I said, "It was probably someone's entire Christmas budget, and if you hadn't returned it, on Christmas, there would have been sad children somewhere." "I'm glad we turned it in dad," he said.

Scott, the ten-year-old math wizzard of the family, had just realized that a small fortune had just passed through our hands, and wasn't yet decided on whether we had made the right decision.

"Are you the little boy who found the money a voice asked?" Before Scott could answer, the woman I had talked to in the line thrust a dollar bill into his hand. "Thank you very much" she said, "That 70 dollars you returned, must have fallen out of my purse when I opened it to pay the bill." "I don't know what I would have done if you hadn't returned it."

Scott passed the reward to Mark and with a puzzled look leaving his face said, "You know dad, when Mark came in here, he didn't have any money, and now he has a dollar." "That's right son," I said. "You know dad", when that lady came in here she had seventy dollars and now she only has 69." "That's right son", I said. "That means she lost a dollar anyway, doesn't it?" he asked. "No Scott," it means she had an experience that she thought was worth spending a dollar on," I said.

"For that dollar bill she gave Mark, she has learned that trust is not old fashioned and out of style." "She will tell her friends, and they will be better for hearing the story." "And you, 'J', Mark and Dennis will remember the day you came to McDonalds without any money, and left with a dollar."

Colleagues don't deserve raise

To The Editor:

Far too many legislators are not treating their positions as full-time jobs and are, therefore, not deserving of the 18.4 percent pay raise.

Pay hikes were authorized by the State Officers Compensation Commission, for the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Supreme Court Justices and the Legislature, and these increases will go into effect unless overturned by the legislature.

I seriously question these pay increases because many legislators engage in the practice of law, the selling of real estate and other income producing business ventures in addition to their legislative duties.

I do agree, however, with the increase in the expense allowance from $3,500 to $4,600. I know what it costs me to travel around my district and to stay in Lansing while we are in session and the $3,500 didn't quite cover those kinds of expenses.

In checking the attendance records of my colleagues, I doubt that quite a few of them are sincere in their efforts to devote full time to their legislative duties. Some of the attendance records are appalling.

I fail to see any rationale for such a large increase, especially when we're telling everyone else to tighten up and hold the line. This raise comes at a time when we have no idea of what our revenues will be and we're facing more budget deficits.

The people supporting this raise are going to have to justify it by their actions. Perhaps this would be a good time for some constituents to check on their legislator's attendance.

Certainly the type of legislation we're been turning out of here lately does not, in my opinion, justify the kind of salary the commission decided we should receive.

Romulus Lions say 'thanks, folks'

Letter to the Editor:

The Romulus Lions Club would like to thank everybody who gave us their support since our inauguration last March.

Our organization is set up so every penny collected from the community through the white cane drive, in the summer, and the candy cane sales at Christmas, goes back to the community.

While we donate to state projects, the better known ones being the Leader Dog school, The Penriton Center for blind and handicapped children, and the Michigan Eye bank, the bulk of our money goes to people whose primary need is eye care, or special glasses they have no possible way of paying for.

The Romulus Lions' Club has found many people who, through no fault of their own, are in such dire need of the everyday necessities, that we take for granted, it would be a full-time job trying to alleviate just these problems.

We have the nucleus of a fine Lions Club for the Romulus area. Right now there are about twenty reliable members, and we could use about twenty more, to allow us to do even more in the community.

Recently we have helped coordinate the swine flu volunteers, helped out with state projects, done small jobs such as moving appliances for infirmed people, transporting needy people, and generally being there when needed.

As an example of the things we do, treasurer, Archie Vaughn, took a gentleman to pick up a pair of glasses. He had been without for the better part of a year, having broken them and unable to afford new ones.

After putting on his new glasses, the gentleman exclaimed how wonderful it was to be able to see clearly again.

You will again be seeing us around this Christmas with our candy canes, so please donate generously to help us continue our good work for the blind and needy.

Thank you and good wishes for the holiday season from all our members.

Our officials: Archie Vaughn, treasurer, Henry Nolen, secretary, and myself, Lions Club president, John Brimble.

Resident seeks to establish new seniors discussion group

To the Editor:

I am interested in forming a project in the community with which I have had some success in the New York Area. I am newly arrived in the Romulus area, and am very "people" oriented. At 58 I am particularly interested in the elderly and would like to establish a group, between the ages of 50 to 70, who would be interested in discussion sessions, contemporary books, politics, nutrition, diet, exercise and any other topic imaginable, from the standpoint of the older person's reaction to finding himself in a youth oriented society and how to cope.

How to find self awareness, self understanding, to recognize our personalities and how to relate to others with opinions and viewpoints that differ from our own.

I have a nice little studio with a wood burning fireplace where meetings could be held and coffee

It's Belleville's lake

To the editor:

When I pay my property taxes this year, I can only hope that the new township board will not feel that Belleville Lake is their personal property. The last board without a public hearing, and with the most capricious manner, posted Belleville Lake against duck hunting.

Actually, even though the attorney general of the state said they could do this, they are treading extremely thin ice, which a court case would no doubt prove.

Belleville Lake was given to the people of Van Buren Township, not the few elected officials which in the past, have assumed dictatorial rules once they were in office.

Lao-Tze

To the Editor:

The Dec. 9 edition gave an excerpt of Lao-Tze's opinion of a leader. Taken out of context it is still meaningful, but in context it is more so.

A leader is best — When people barely know he exists. — Not so good when people obey and acclaim him. — Worst when they despise him. — "Fail to honor the people. — They fail to honor you." — But of a good leader, who talks little. — When his work is done, his aim fulfilled — They will say, "We did it ourselves."

Readers spring to Bradley's aid

To the Editor:

Just a few lines to let you know how much I enjoy reading Jim Bradley's articles in our local newspaper—Belleville Enterprise. I wrote to say how great he is and how personally happy I was to have him write for Van Buren Township.

Jim and I have much in common — our love of God, writing, caring about other people's needs and remembering old friends you meet along life's highways of broken dreams. We need to reach out our hearts and hands to help unite our nation in brotherhood.

Jim, I'm a free lance writer and I enjoy your writing immensely. Keep writing and stay as wonderful and caring as you are today and always. Merry Christmas and God walk beside you, enfold you in His tender, loving care.

MRS. DONALD K. THOMPSON

For newlywed Thompsons

Honeymoon destination is Niagara Falls, Canada

Candlelight and baskets of pink gladiolas and red roses set the mood Oct. 9 for the evening ceremony which united Teresa Gail Allred of Romulus and Donald Keith Thompson of East Detroit in holy matrimony.

The couple repeated their vows and exchanged wedding bands before The Rev. Raymond Babb and 225 assembled relatives and friends. Merriman Road Baptist Church in Garden City was reserved for the rite.

Music for the wedding was furnished by Mrs. Tony McCoy at the organ, Sheryl Mallory at the piano, Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Cascadden and Mrs. Jimmy Popkey.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Allred of 9441 Chamberlain, Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Taz R. Thompson of 23107 Beechwood, East Detroit.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride entered the aisle in a traditional white gown of knit chiffon designed with a lace-trimmed V-neckline and long sleeves accented in the same motif. The lace was repeated on the flounce which bordered the long skirt and chapel train which were drawn up into a bustle for the reception.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was caught to a band of lace and a small bouquet of dried pink and white flowers completed her bridal finery.

As her sister's maid of honor, Tina Allred of Romulus donned a halter-style dress with a long-sleeved matching jacket of burgundy tulle with feather trim. She wore a matching velvet bow as her headpiece and carried a basket filled with dried fall flowers and velvet ribbons.

Bridesmaids in similar pink ensembles were Rhoda Thompson of East Detroit, the bridegroom's sister, and Susan Kautz of Romulus. Patricia Watson, a cousin of the bridegroom, came from Memphis, Tenn. to be junior bridesmaid.

Five-year-old Michelle Watson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Watson of Memphis, Tenn., was flowergirl in a miniature version of the senior attendants' frocks. Kyle Smith, the 4-year-old son of Mrs. Winda Smith, carried out the duties of ringbearer.

Best man was Daniel Mallory of Sterling Heights. Groomsman were Leonard Woods of St. Clair Shores; Jeff Allred of Romulus, the bride's brother; and Jimmy Berger of East Detroit, the junior usher.

Guests, who later gathered at the Amvets Hall in Westland for the reception, were greeted by the bride's mother in a long emerald green crepe knit gown enhanced with ivory lace. The bridegroom's mother chose to wear a formal coral crepe gown with pearl trim.

For their honeymoon, the newlyweds traveled to Niagara Falls in Ontario, Canada for one week and are now at home at 1321 Fort St., Lincoln Park.

The new Mrs. Thompson, a 1974 graduate of Romulus High School, is employed at Micro-Measurements in Romulus. Her husband, a 1974 alumnus of East Detroit High School, is currently attending Macomb College while working for Fruehauf, Inc. of Detroit. The bridegroom's parents, the Taz Thompsons, entertained at the rehearsal dinner held at Bonanza's banquet room in Wayne.

Two enrollments held by WOTM

Two enrollments were held in December. On Dec. 4 Green Cap Night honored Frances Elliot and welcomed new co-workers, Donna Davis, sponsored by Helen Jacobs and Rosalee A. Henning, sponsored by Martha Morton. Joyce Becker, former Deputy Grand Regent, was the guest speaker. Green Caps from 10 chapters held the chairs for the evening.

Dec. 13 was Social Service Chapter Night. Marjorie Koeppel, chairman, brought in one new candidate, Gloyce Lauth, her sponsor being Frances Elliot. An exchange of gifts and Christmas carols played by pianist, Martha Morton, gave a festive air to the evening. A business meeting was held Dec. 20, one week earlier because of the holidays.

Several co-workers have been ill: Louise Steger in Annapolis Hospital, Maud Emens in Garden City Hospital and Viola Leffler recuperating at home after a serious accident. Congratulations went to Nancy LaPorte and her new baby son. There will be no fish fries until Jan. 7.

Huron High School graduates wed at bridegroom's home

The home of the bridegroom's parents in New Boston was the setting Nov. 25 for the single ring ceremony at which Brenda K. Robinson and Terry A. Kincaid became husband and wife.

The Rev. Kenneth Middleton presided at the 6 p.m. candlelight rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Robinson of 40551 Judd Rd., Belleville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kincaid of 38894 S. Huron, New Boston.

The ceremony took place beneath an archway of cedar roping accented with daisy mums, white satin ribbons and two white wedding bells. Recorded music included "I Love You Truly" and "O, Promise Me."

For her wedding day the bride chose to wear a toe-touching gown of rose-patterned lace over white satin. The empire bodice featured a Victorian neckline enhanced with rose appliques which were repeated on the long sleeves, flounced hemline and chapel sweep.

A delicate tiara held the bride's 3-tiered fingertip veil which was bordered in lace to match her gown. Completing her ensemble was a colonial bouquet of yellow tea roses, blue carnations and white daisies on a lace background.

A dark blue Victorian era gown was worn by the bride's only attendant, Mrs. Patricia Hedges of Ypsilanti. Her bouquet was comprised of blue carnations and white daisies with lace backing and long blue streamers.

The honor attendant's daughter, Angie Hedges, seven, served as flowergirl at the wedding. Her little blue polyester frock was designed with a white lace bodice and bishop sleeves. Her flowers were a duplicate of her mother's.

The bride's brother, Bobby Robinson of Belleville, carried out the duties of best man. Pernel Kincaid of New Boston was usher at his brother's wedding.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a black and white formal polyester gown with nylon sleeves. The bridegroom's mother donned a pink and white gown made in the same fashion. Both were honored with corsages of white carnations tipped in the colors of their dresses.

The home reception which followed was attended by some 40 relatives and friends.

The young couple, both graduate of Huron High School, are making their home at 38894 E. Huron, New Boston, until the first of the year. The bridegroom is employed by Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors at Willow Run.

Bicentennial colors featured at Packard-Hicks wedding

A Bicentennial color scheme was chosen by Susan Eileen Hicks for her recent marriage to Stuart John Packard at St. Clare's Episcopal Church in Ann Arbor.

The bridal coterie, who carried single, long-stemmed red roses, was attired in red gowns with companion capes and white straw hats encircled with red velvet ribbon. The bridegroom and his attendants were dressed in navy blue outfits.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride appeared in an A-line creation of embroidered satin which had been made by her mother. Styled with a little fitted bodice, the dress featured a vneckline and lace-trimmed short sleeves. Her toe-touching veil, made in three tiers, was outlined with matching lace. Adding contrast to her ensemble were the three red roses she carried, two of which she presented to her mother and the mother of her bridegroom.

Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Hicks of Canton and Mr. and Mrs. Rolla James Packard of Ann Arbor.

Preceding the bride to the altar were her maid of honor, Theresa Skwarlo of Dearborn; bridesmaid, Mary Thompson of Belleville, and junior attendant, Patsy Packard of Ann Arbor, sister of the bridegroom. Stuart Norman of Ypsilanti was asked to be best man. David Packard and Donald Packard, both brothers of the bridegroom, were usher and junior usher, respectively.

Corsages of blue-tipped carnations were presented to both mothers, Mrs. Hicks who wore a navy A-line gown with a chiffon overlay, and Mrs. Packard who wore a pink lace sheath gown.

Red roses, blue bachelor's buttons and white baby's breath were used at the bridal table at the reception which followed in the church wing. The 3-tiered wedding cake also carried out the patriotic theme of the wedding.

Red punch, white ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Jackie Marsh of Belleville and Mrs. Pam Norman of Ypsilanti, with assistance from the bridal attendants who wore corsages of red and white carnations for the reception. The bride pinned blue-tipped carnations to her gown for the party.

A graduate of Belleville High School in 1976, the bride was employed at Sambo's in Wayne for two years and is now working at Lum's in Ann Arbor. Her husband, a 1973 graduate of Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor, is currently an accounting student at the University of Michigan.

The newlyweds, who spent two weeks honeymooning in Northern Michigan, are now making their home in Ann Arbor.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held at Westbank, Holiday Inn West, of Ann Arbor.

Leader Dog School speakers at ABWA

The Huron Valley Chapter of Ypsilanti, American Business Women's Association, met at Nickerson's Tin Lizzie on Dec. 2. Guest speakers were Chum Stockwell, vice-president Metropolitan Council, Lion's Club, and Ed Bohanan, a graduate of the Leader Dog School in Rochester.

Bohanan works for Ford Motor Co. in Livonia. The youngest blind person working for Ford, he brought his leader dog, Yogi, and demonstrated Yogi's obedience by giving him a few commands.

A film, "She'll Never Walk Alone Again", showed the training a blind person must go through in order to obtain a leader dog. It also showed the training the dogs receive.

Attendance in the leader dog school is free for qualified applicants and is supported by donations. Lion's Club gives the majority of support through their various fund drives.

The vocational speaker was Hattie Caldwell, a first grade teacher at Stone Elementary School in Ann Arbor.

Bunny Hardy, membership chairman, presented a certificate of scholarship and a $150 check to Rae Lynn McKinnon. She is attending Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo specializing in mental health and is on Western's Dean's List.

Pat Baughman as Ms. Claus handed out the members' Christmas exchange gifts.

Winning combo

Raspberry flavor gelatin is combined with frozen peaches and raspberries in a duet sure to please carol singers of all ages. Serve with

Sure to please classic duet

If you're looking for undiscovered talent to make your holiday entertaining "sing," try a new theme created originally back in the "golden age" of opera for a celebrated soprano. A good many peaches and raspberries have been grist for the Melba mill since Nellie's time. This duet of fruity flavors shimmers with jewel-like facets. It's easy to understand why so many variations have evolved from the original combination.

Quick and easy to prepare, raspberry flavor gelatin is combined with frozen peaches and raspberries in a ring mold, unmolded and served with scoops of vanilla ice cream. It's ideal for a come-over-for-dessert invitation to neighbors during holiday season. What about that carol-sing group you enjoy every year? They deserve advance invitation. Add a few Christmas cookies to serve along with the fruited ring mold. It's a rewarding way to show hospitality; a special compliment to you for serving it.

Jellied Peach Melba Ring

2 packages (3 oz. each) or 1 package (6 oz.) raspberry flavor gelatin
2 cups boiling water
1/2 cup cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 package (10 oz.) frozen peaches in quick thaw pouch, slightly thawed
1 package (10 oz.) frozen red raspberries in quick thaw pouch, slightly thawed
1 pint vanilla ice cream
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water, lemon juice, and the fruits. Stir gently until fruit thaws and separates—gelatin may begin to thicken. Pour into 5-cup ring mold. Chill until firm—4 hours or overnight. Unmold. Just before serving, fill center of ring with scoops of ice cream. Makes 5 cups or 8 to 10 servings.

Plants are ideal gifts

There's never a worry about giving the right gift for just about anyone on your Christmas list if you give green growing plants. There are plants to fit everyone's tastes in size and shape and they are constant reminders of Christmas thoughtfulness throughout the year.

The people in the American Association of Nurserymen have some suggestions. For a very special gift, an ornamental or shade tree can be perfect. A shrub or bush for a homeowner keeps on saying "Merry Christmas" for years to come.

For small children, there are plenty of little fun plants for them to grow with and learn from. Put them in extra cute containers to match the decor of their rooms and you've added an extra touch.

For that very special person, a flowering houseplants or exotic ferns and other plants make a delicate gift that keeps on growing in sentiment.

For that co-worker on your list, there is a variety of plants which are ideal to perk up an office or other work area. And for the boss, perhaps a broadleaf plant is just perfect.

Give a green, growing gift and give someone pleasure in caring for nature's gifts.

Scouts aid needy families

Service to others is one of the foundations of scouting, which is very evident by the recent activities of the Hale Creek School "cluster" in Romulus.

Three Brownie troops, 174, 291, and 682, and Junior troops 195 and 743 jointly prepared five food baskets for needy families in the area which were distributed Dec. 16 by school principal Arthur McPharlin and Cadette Troop leader, Mrs. Barbara Holt. Each troop member donated canned goods and other foodstuffs for the baskets with hams or turkeys supplied out of troop funds.

visited Lexington House of Wayne where the girls presented residents with decorative dolls which they crafted themselves. Each scout "adopted" a grandparent which they intend to correspond with throughout the year and on birthdays.

Junior troop 743 paired up with Cub Scout Pack 1739 in a joint Christmas caroling visit to Wayne Convalescent Center on Van Born Road on Dec. 18. The young carolers were treated to hot chocolate and donuts following their singing venture at the home of troop services director, Mrs. Pat Stewart of Woodmont Street in Romulus.

Lydia is the eighth grandchild for Mrs. Gertrude Higgins of Wayne and the third for Mrs. Dorothy Smith of Romulus and Frederick Smith of Wayne.

The other Higgins children are Natalie Kathleen, seven, and Kyle Edward, two. Their mother is the former Valerie Smith of Belleville.

THE ROLE OF THE CLERGY AT TIME OF DEATH

In attempting to console the bereaved, the clergyman can sometimes find himself in seemingly a conflict with the facts of death, as observed by the bereaved.

Statements by a father to his five-year-old child such as "Now, mummy's gone to Heaven" are too complex and yet too simple for the child to accept—especially when the child has seen the tears and expressions of grief of family and friends.

The minister can be of great assistance in defining the DIFFERENCES between the physical (body of the deceased) and the soul (spirit of the deceased). It can be far healthier emotionally to allow the minister (priest or rabbi) to help the family of the deceased as they work openly through their grief than to permit their sadness to be repressed or concealed. The clergymen have been trained to assist in times of stress. Their experiences—drawn from real life and death situations can be invaluable. The many sources of comfort and aid to which they have access may be most beneficial. They are anxious, moreover, to serve their congregations in these hours of grief-counseling.

This is one of a series of brief articles I hope will be helpful. We welcome your questions—in private or publicly through this column.

Sweets for the sweet

A holiday gift of homemade chocolate candy is a sweet thought with sweet good taste. Opera Fudge, Chocolate Creams and Chocolate Circus are all different yet all made with semi-sweet chocolate. What a pretty variety

For your recipe file

Christmas is a sweet time

Even Scrooge turned sweet on Christmas Day, and our guess is that Mrs. Cratchit helped turn the tide with a special gift — her own candies — all wrapped and earmarked for Ebenezer.

Sweets for the sweet is a Christmas tradition. Opera Fudge, Chocolate Creams, and Chocolate Circus are wonderful contents for surprise Christmas gifts. All three are made with Baker's Semi-Sweet Chocolate.

Have the youngsters help both with the candy-making and the wrapping. Expect some sampling before the packages are ready — you'll all be sweeter for it!

Opera Fudge

2 cups sugar
1 cup light cream
1 tablespoon light corn syrup
one-eighth teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
¾ cup chopped walnuts
6 squares semi-sweet chocolate
Combine sugar, light cream, corn syrup and salt in a heavy saucepan. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture begins to boil. Continue boiling, stirring frequently to prevent scorching, until mixture will form a soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 236 degrees). Remove from heat. While pouring edge of saucepan with damp cloth and pour into clean saucepan. Cool until lukewarm (110 degrees) without stirring. Add vanilla, and beat until candy loses its gloss; add nuts. Pour at once into lightly buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool until firm.
Partially melt chocolate over very low heat. Remove from heat and stir until entirely melted. Pour over candy, spreading evenly. Cool until chocolate is firm. Cut in 1-inch squares. Candies may be stored, covered, in refrigerator for about 4 days. Makes 64 pieces.

Chocolate Creams

1 package (8 squares) semi-sweet chocolate
½ cup butter or margarine
1-¾ cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons light cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Chocolate sprinkles or finely chopped nuts
Partially melt chocolate squares with butter over very low heat. Remove from heat and stir rapidly until chocolate is entirely melted. Blend in sugar, light cream and vanilla. Chill until mixture will hold its shape—about ½ hour. Form chocolate mixture into small balls; then roll in chocolate sprinkles. Store in the refrigerator. Makes about 5 dozen confections.

Chocolate Circus

3 squares semi-sweet chocolate
32 marshmallows
32 animal crackers
Partially melt chocolate over very low heat. Remove from heat and stir until entirely melted. Dip the top of each marshmallow into melted chocolate; place chocolate side up on plate or tray. Stand animal crackers in the chocolate, pressing down until firmly anchored. Let stand until chocolate is firm. Use as place cards or favors at a children's party or as decorations around a cake. Makes 32.

Thoughtfulness is including lo-cal food at your party

Cooks in the Belleville, Van Buren, Sumpter, Romulus, Huron and New Boston areas will be busy right through the first of the year entertaining relatives and friends. And there will be hostesses who are thoughtful enough to think of those who are watching their weight and trying to stay away from fattening foods.

It's not always easy to come up with lo-cal dishes, particularly in the snacks, dunks and nibbles department. That's why we've done a little research and come up with a few recipes for weight watchers.

The dips run as low as 15 calories per tablespoon so that gives a raw vegetable muncher lots of leeway in keeping up with the rest of the party.

COOL CUCUMBER DIP

3 medium cucumbers
1 8-ounce container creamed cottage cheese, sieved
1 tablespoon milk
1 tablespoon minced pimiento dash cayenne
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
½ teaspoon seasoned pepper
About 20 minutes before serving:

In covered blender container, blend 1 cucumber, coarsely chopped, and next six ingredients until smooth.

Cut other 2 unpared cucumbers into sticks about 4 inches long and ½ inch wide. Spoon dip into pretty bowl; set on plate surrounded by cucumber sticks for dunking. Makes about 1 cup and is 20 calories per tablespoon.

VEGETABLE DIP

1 cup low-calorie mayonnaise
2 tablespoons grated onion
2 teaspoons tarragon vinegar
2 teaspoons chili sauce
2 teaspoons snipped chives
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon thyme leaves dash pepper
raw cauliflowerets, celery sticks and carrot sticks

Anytime, up to 30 minutes before serving:

In small bowl, mix first 9 ingredients; refrigerate. At serving time, spoon mayonnaise mixture into small bowl; set in center of plate surrounded by raw vegetables. Makes about 1 cup at 20 calories per tablespoon.

PARSLEY CHEESE DIP

2 tablespoons milk
2 cups small-curd creamed cottage cheese
1.5-ounce package Caesar dip mix
¼ cup parsley leaves

radish roses, cucumber spears, cherry tomatoes, carrot sticks, celery strips

Day before serving:

In covered blender, mix milk, cottage cheese, dip mix and parsley at low speed until smooth. Refrigerate overnight to "marry" flavors. Makes 2 cups at 15 calories per tablespoon.

By MRS. JOSEPH SPRING
699-4021

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph of Edgar Street and Diane Shank of Bemis Road were in Kalamazoo on Dec. 18 where they attended graduation exercises at Western Michigan University.

Paula Dolph was one of the graduates receiving a bachelor of science degree. She has been working for the past several weeks under supervision at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKelvey of Romulus and the former's parents, the Charles McKelveys of Bemis Road were dinner guests last Sunday of the Glenn McKelvey family at Flushing.

On Sunday, Dec. 12, 2-months-old Jennifer Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hyde of West Huron River Drive, received the sacrament of baptism at the First United Methodist Church after which a special dinner was served at their home.

Guests were the baby's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Church Street and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Hyde of Ecorse Road. The Rev. and Mrs. Joy Arthur were also guests.

Walter James of Clay Road underwent surgery at the University of Michigan Medical Center on Dec. 14. He is now convalescing at his home.

Mrs. Vinton McAtee and daughter, Ruth, spent Sunday in Fremont, Ohio with the former's brother-in-law, Richard Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Orr of Harmony Lane, daughter, Lynn, their granddaughter, Laura Orr, attended the annual Johnson family Christmas party at Vassar on Dec. 11. Other members of the family present for the 6:30 dinner and gift exchange came from Eron, Ohio, Saginaw, Flint, Davidson, Millington, Clare, Fenton and Vassar.

Word was received by relatives on Dec. 14 of the sudden illness of Mrs. Troye (Lucy) Lambert of Harrison, formerly of Quirk Road. Having suffered a heart attack, she is in the intensive care unit at Central Community Hospital at Mt. Pleasant.

After having been a patient for the past five weeks at Veteran's Hospital in Ann Arbor, Marvin Meese has been transferred to the Veteran's Center at Wood, Wisc. where he expects to undergo open heart surgery.

His present address is: V.A. Center-G.C., 6th Floor North, Wood, Wis. 53193.

On Dec. 19 Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dolph of Edgar Street entertained at an early Christmas party members of Mrs. Dolph's family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Waters and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Otto and son, all from Ann Arbor; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Butler from Milan; Mr. and Mrs. Don Waters and son, Jim, of Huntington Woods; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Waters and son of Mt. Clemens; their own son Jerry and wife with their son, Jeff of Ypsilanti and daughter, Paula, who was also celebrating her birthday.

Attending the regular meeting of Ypsilanti Chapter D.A.R. last Friday, which was held at the Ypsilanti Museum, were members, Esther Deering, Phyllis Seaman and Dorothy Kellas with Mildred Arley as their guest.

Walter Nollf is now at home on Edison Street after having undergone recent surgery at Beyer Hospital.

Mrs. B.P. Hopson of Belleville Road was a dinner guest last Wednesday evening of Juanita Melton of Inkster.

Quotes worth quoting...

"It is good to be children sometimes, and never better than at Christmas when its mighty Founder was a child Himself."

Charles Dickens said it.

Red Cross to be sponsor of 'Save-A-Life' donor day

To avert an area wide shortage of blood during the crucial holiday season, Red Cross will sponsor Save-A-Life Sunday on Dec. 26, with the hope of collecting 1,000 pints of blood.

"We are encouraging every eligible donor between the ages of 17 and 65, to donate during this crucial period," said A. William Shafer, MD, director of the Southeastern Michigan Red Cross Blood Center. "We must assure that holiday needs are met and a slump in donations prevented."

This year as in past years, there are fewer blood collection days in December because many businesses and industries close for holiday vacations. Because industry provides much of the blood that is needed in the tri-county area, this important source is lost during the holiday season.

"We are confident that residents will respond to the need and donate either on Sunday, or sometime during the following week," Dr. Shafer said.

Red Cross donor sites will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Save-A-Life Sunday.

Western Wayne County residents can make an appointment to donate blood on Save-A-Life Sunday at the Dearborn donor site, Village Plaza, 23400 Michigan Avenue, or by calling 274-5450.

Mail will be collected on both holidays only from letter boxes in front of the Post Office, located at 330 Charles St., O'Neil added.

Romulus resident Terri Lynn Orsinis has been named to the Dean's List for the fall term at Northwood Institute in Midland, Mich. Miss Orsinis needed a 3.0 or better grade point average to be named to the academic listing.

A winter workshop in counseling and sexual development will be offered by Wayne State University's College of Education through the College of Lifelong Learning at its Southfield Center, 25610 W. 11 Mile Road.

Adds newsreel program

Ford Museum extends hours during yule

Western Wayne County families will have more time to experience the enchantment of an old-fashioned Christmas at Henry Ford Museum this holiday season. The Dearborn attraction will extend its hours until 8:30 p.m. for four days—Dec. 26-31.

In addition to the crafts and special displays which are features of the museum's Christmas presentation, evening visitors also may enjoy family entertainment each night in the Museum Theater at no extra charge. A 30-minute program of early newsreels and cartoons will be presented each evening at 7 and 8 p.m.

Elsewhere in the museum, 16 craftsmen will demonstrate the skills of yesteryear along the Street of Early American Shops. Visitors may watch a broom maker, toy maker, candle maker, glass blower, tinsmith and other artisans fashion the articles that provided earlier generations with the holiday luxuries as well as necessities.

Throughout the museum, old-fashioned Christmas trees, wreaths, ribbons and cedar roping enhance the holiday spirit. In the Decorative Arts galleries, garlands of greens, centerpieces of fruit and fanciful decorations from out of the past grace the period settings and alcoves.

Hours in the museum from December 26-31 are 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. At other times, the museum is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on weekends. Village hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Both the Village and Museum are closed Christmas and New Year's days.

For up-to-the-minute information on holiday activities at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village, dial Village Party Line at 271-1978. This service is available 24 hours every day.

Planetarium welcomes 1977 with new Tuesday program

The Exhibit Museum Planetarium of the University of Michigan will celebrate the new year with an experimental offering of public shows on Tuesdays. This is in addition to the usual schedule of shows on Saturdays and Sundays.

The Tuesday programs will be held at 4 p.m. Jan. 11, 18, and 25, said Jim Loudon, chief demonstrator for the planetarium.

"Then, if public interest turns out to be as high as we expect, Tuesdays will become a permanent addition to the planetarium's academic-year schedule," he added.

The planetarium's shows on Saturdays and Sundays will be through Jan. 2 at 3 p.m., Jan. 8 through March 27, at 2 and 3:30 p.m. and April 2 through Sept. 4 at 3 p.m.

Loudon said several other changes will begin with the new year.

"Seating in the planetarium will be reserved for all shows," he said. "Tickets will go on sale a half hour before each show begins. Only 45 tickets per show will be sold, so the seating never will be crowded."

In the past a single ticket admitted the holder to both the planetarium and TAM, a human anatomy demonstration.

"Starting with the Christmas holidays, TAM will be free and the planetarium will cost 50 cents," Loudon added. "As always, the museum itself is free, and so is the Astronomical Film Festival that the planetarium co-sponsors."

Loudon said anyone who still holds ticket stubs for TAM demonstrations will be admitted to the planetarium free.

The museum hours are also changing. The museum will open and close a half hour earlier — from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. Monday through Saturday hours will remain the same, 9 to 5."

"Parents of young children should be warned that our shows last one hour and they can't leave in the middle," Loudon said. Groups of 15 or more are advised to arrange for a private showing ahead of time.

"Such private shows not only have the advantage of being tailored to the group's age and interest level, they also cost less than the public ones," Loudon noted.

"The U-M Planetarium is unique among the hundreds of planetaria in the United States, as our shows have no predetermined topics," said Loudon. "Instead, each show is based on audience questions plus current celestial events."

Entertainment

'Three Sisters' set for opening night at WSU Hilberry

"The Three Sisters" by Anton Chekhov officially will join the Hilberry Theatre's repertory at 8:30 p.m. Jan. 12, following a Jan. 11 preview.

"The Three Sisters" is set in a provincial Russian town at the home of Andrey Prozorov and his sisters Olga, Masha, and Irima. Throughout the play, the sisters speak of going to Moscow, which becomes an expression of their frustrated desire to escape the tedium of life. This theme is developed in a complex mixture of comedy, pathos and irony.

In his book "The Real Chekhov," David Magarshack wrote: "Chekhov's attitude towards the characters in his plays is one of profound understanding without any false sentimentality. It is this that explains best the marvelous blend of the comic and the tragic that is so characteristic of them."

Chekhov's contemporary, Leo Tolstoy, the Russian novelist and philosopher, of his writing said "Chekhov is an incomparable artist. He is understood and accepted not only by every Russian, but by all of humanity."

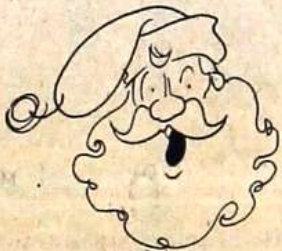

The Hilberry production, a late addition to the 1976-77 repertory, uses the translation by Tyrone Guthrie and Leonid Kipnis.

The cast is headed by Deborah Eckols, Monique Morgan and Suzanne Leslie Stark as the sisters, David Sederholm as their brother Andrey, and Wayne Ballantyne as Vershinin. Other principal players include Rhonda Smith, Andrew Leo Dunn, Richard Morgan, Donald W. Dailey and David D. Montee.

N. Joseph Calarco directs the production, with set design by Elizabeth Anne Roush, costumes by Helen Markovitch, and lighting by James A. Hatfield.

"The Three Sisters" will alternate with "The Journey of the Fifth Horse," "Lion in Winter," and "As You Like It" until these productions are joined by "Othello" at the end of January.

Complete schedule and ticket information is available from the box office, located at Cass and Hancock, or by calling 577-2972.

Players will stage 'Babes' in January

The Greenfield Village Players will continue their Family Theatre Series through January with five performances of "Babes in Toyland".

The 1903 operetta by Victor Herbert, combining a memorable musical score with a fantasy-filled script, features characters straight from the pages of Mother Goose. The audience will meet the likes of Bo Peep, Little Boy Blue and Contrary Mary as they follow Jack and Jill on a flight from their miserly Uncle Barnaby.

In the course of their adventures, the clumsy pair crosses through the spider forest and into a magical land inhabited by toy soldiers, dolls and dancing bears and ruled by a wicked toymaker. The toys eventually triumph and Jack and Jill foil their uncle's evil plans.

Interspersed with the dialog is a musical score that includes "The March of the Wooden Soldiers," "Toyland" and "Just a Whisper Away." Costumes and dazzling scenery enliven the 2-hour production.

"Babes in Toyland" is designed for the whole family. January performances are set for 2 p.m. Jan. 8, 15 and 22 and 7:30 p.m. Jan. 8 and 15.

Tickets are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children 12 and under. They will be available at the Museum Theater box office approximately one hour before each performance. There are no reserved seats. For additional information, call the Reservation Office at 271-1620.

Working parents get child care tax break

Twice as many working parents in Western Wayne County and with young children are expected to get a tax break for child care costs under the new tax law, placing them among the leading beneficiaries of the recent legislation, according to the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA).

However, gains under the new law are limited largely to low-income parents, while those in medium to upper brackets may actually lose some of the deductions they have enjoyed, the accountants' group added.

As explained by the MACPA, here is how the law favors lower income families:

— Couples with lower incomes usually do not itemize deductions because taking the standard deduction saves them tax dollars. Up to now, that has denied them a tax break for child care costs. But now, while using the standard deduction, they can still claim child care benefits.

— Even if one spouse works only parttime, or is a fulltime student, they now can claim child care benefits.

— Child care payments can be paid to a relative, if the relative is not a dependent and if Social Security taxes can be paid on what the individual earns, which is not possible under the ordinary circumstances.

The CPA organization said the Tax Reform Act of 1976 replaced the child care deduction with a tax credit. Now, instead of reducing the amount of taxable income, you subtract a credit from the amount of taxes otherwise due. The credit can range up to $400 per year for one child or $800 for two or more.

Because the new credit is only 20 percent of the amount spent on child care, taxpayers earning between $10,000 and $35,000 may find the new law brings them substantially less savings than the old one.

Working parents who earn more than $35,000 will benefit, however. Above this level, the old law phased out benefits; the new law does not.

All the changes apply to 1976 incomes, which means they affect income tax returns due April 15, 1977.

The new law eliminates the distinction between expenses for child care at home and outside the home; the credit allowed is the same in either case.

The MACPA advises further that the amount of expense qualifying for the credit is limited to the earnings of the spouse with the lower income. And if one of the parents is a fulltime student, with no income, the earnings are assumed to be $166 a month if there's one child, $333 if there are two or more who have to be cared for.

With new act, bill

Consumer protection gets boost in state

Consumer protection has gained ground in the State Legislature with two landmark bills — the warranty extension bill, passed by the Senate, and the long-awaited Consumer Protection Act, signed by the governor last week.

The House Consumers Committee

currently is studying the warranty extension bill, which is intended to protect the buying public from being penalized by defective merchandise constantly in need of repair. The bill would extend warranties on goods being repaired by the length of time the service takes.

Under the bill, warranties would be extended by the amount of time it takes to repair goods, if it takes more than 10 days or a number of days equal to 10 percent of the length of the warranty, whichever is lesser. The owner of the goods would have to keep record of the repair time and could require the merchant to provide a written statement indicating how long the goods were in for repair.

The second bill is the wide-sweeping Consumers Protection Act, designed to put an end to the deceptive practices of business which have "ripped off" the public with false advertising, unwarranted service or repairs and a host of other unfair methods of commerce.

The act prohibits 29 specific, unjust business practices, ranging from misleading advertising to charging excessively high prices. Besides defining those practices which are unfair to customers, the bill also spells out procedures for enforcement — the "legal teeth" to ensure that businesses comply or face the threat of court suits.

Two of the practices which would be outlawed by the act, are the sale of a new item which turns out to be used, and reported auto repair work which never was done.

Other deceptive practices to be banned would be:

— High pressure sales pitches which cause the "coercion and duress" of consumers.

— Lying about defects in homes which endanger families, if certain goods aren't purchased when defects are nonexistent or the commodities actually would not offer protection.

— Advertising goods and services without the intention to reasonably supply public demand unless it is disclosed that there is a limited quantity.

Coalition will help revamp response to urban counties

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has described as "an outstanding beginning" a national conference which formed a coalition of urban counties and urged President-elect Carter to revamp federal responses to urban county needs.

Barr represented the nation's third-largest county at the 3-day conference in Washington. The meeting was sponsored by the Johns Hopkins University planning and research center.

The conference adopted a 4-point program for submission to President-elect Carter. It asks that the Carter Administration:

— Establish a high-level position of urban county advisor to be charged with "restructuring federal responses to urban county needs."

— Redirect federal fiscal priorities to focus on the particular problems of urban counties in such areas as social service delivery, growth management, environmental protection, economic development and transportation.

— Act on several major proposals endorsed by the conference. These include revamping of the budget system, reform and full Federal financing of the welfare system, continued funding of public service employment and manpower training programs, and re-enactment of the counter-cyclical revenue-sharing program.

— Streamline the Federal service delivery system to reduce inefficiency in two ways, by revising regulations and procedures which do not deal effectively with urban counties, and by reforming "wasteful budgeting procedures which inhibit government's ability to respond to changing public needs."

Barr said the conference emphasized that the reordering of federal priorities "should not be done at the expense of America's cities."

"The conference supported a federal approach which recognizes the different but equal needs of city and suburb," he added. "We believe the savings to be gained by updating federal priorities and improving the federal delivery system would permit the government to better serve urban counties without reducing necessary federal aid to the cities."

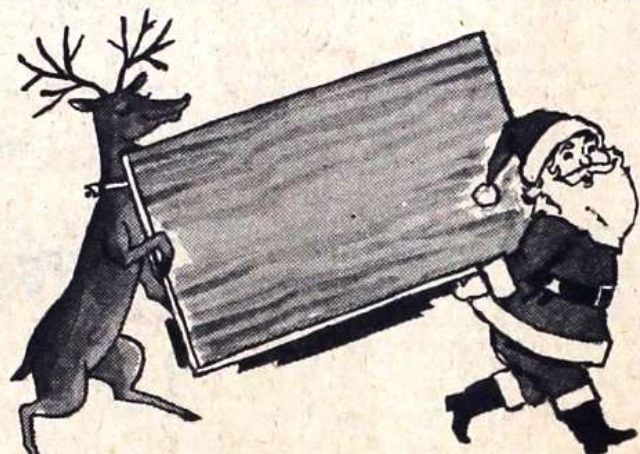

Representatives of the nation's 30 largest counties attended the conference.

Barr said Wayne County will continue to participate in the National Association of Counties (NACo) which has 1,548 member-counties and will hold its 1977 convention in Detroit July 23-27.

"Urban counties are unique entities," he continued. "They are neither fish nor fowl. Cities are well represented in Washington. So are counties in a very general way. But the problems of the heavily-populated urban counties often fall between the cracks. We need this new coalition to lobby for our interests.

"At our normal counties' conferences, we often find ourselves addressing the same issues as small rural counties in Iowa and New Mexico. We have little in common with them and should be concerned with the vast problems of our own county and those of similar size."

Double medallions

with a medallion for the unit's work in local affairs. Below, county bureau President Richard Sharland (center) netted an award for the local bureau for meeting its membership goal in 1976. On hand for both presentations was Bunny Semans, Farm Bureau Queen.

Farm Bureau recognizes Wayne County unit's work

The Wayne County Farm Bureau was in the winner's circle at the annual awards banquet of the Michigan Farm Bureau, held in Grand Rapids earlier this month. Nearly 1,100 farmers and guests from throughout the state were present for the awards presentation, which was a part of the state's largest farm organization's 4-day annual meeting.

Farm Bureau leaders, President Richard Sharland and Chuck Paas of the Executive Committee, along with their wives, Emilie Sharland and Lucille Paas, and the county secretary, Louise Witkowski, travelled to the Pantlind Hotel for the 4-day convention.

At the meeting, Sharland joined with Michigan Farm Bureau President Elton R. Smith and the newly crowned Farm Bureau Queen, Bunny Semans for photos after receiving a medallion presented to Wayne County for being one of the top membership counties in the State of Michigan.

Wayne County proudly met its 1976 Membership goal in March of this year. Much to the surprise of local residents Wayne County had a membership goal of 712 and surpassed that with a total of 740 by the end of the fiscal year on Aug. 31. Of that figure, 535 are regular farm families, proving that Wayne County is not all highways, concrete and glass office buildings as is the mistaken opinion of many, a bureau spokesman said.

The second recognition award was for the outstanding work Paas and the Wayne County Farm Bureau put forth in local affairs. Paas has been working to bring about a change in the Wayne County Open Burning Law.

Wayne County Farm Bureau feels that today's laws regarding the open burning ban are unfair and discriminatory toward the farmer, the spokesman said. Local townships, including Brownstown, Canton, Plymouth, Huron and Van Buren, in agreement with farmers have taken a stand to help lift the ban on open burning on agricultural land of 20 acres or more for disease and pest control.

This ban would allow the farmer to clear land of piled brush for agricultural use.

Permits would be regulated and local fire departments - and ordinance enforcement officers would be given the jurisdiction to inspect the site for burning before a permit would be issued.

Royce E. Smith, 27th District, county commissioner, has contacted Morton Sterling of the Wayne County Air Pollution Control Division, on behalf of the Wayne County farmers.

Smith believes some relief should be given to the farmers, the spokesman said. Persons interested in helping farmers fight for better service can do so by writing a letter to Sterling, urging a change in this law, the spokesman added.

Letters can be sent to Wayne County Air Pollution Control Division, 1311 E. Jefferson, Detroit, 48207. Call the county secretary at 729-0799 for further information on the drive if interested in becoming a part of the 1977 membership team, which is "United To Serve Agriculture".

Auto Club warns tourists of woes South of border

Michiganians planning a Mexican vacation this winter should choose their activities carefully because of recent attacks on U.S. citizens in the country, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"While the vast majority of persons traveling to Mexico will encounter no problems, we are advising tourists to that country about the sharp rise in attacks by bandits robbing and terrorizing American visitors," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "The pattern of these incidents has involved tourists' cars being forced off the road, in each case by some vehicle whose occupants were armed."

Ratke added that cars, possessions and money were stolen and the victims left abandoned in the countryside.

Although attacks have been centered in the Mexican state of Sinaloa on the main north-south artery leading to Mazatlan, Guadalajara and Acapulco, one attack occurred near Acapulco.

"The Auto Club is not discouraging travelers from going to Mexico, only advising them to plan trips carefully and stay near major population centers since nearly all attacks have occurred in isolated areas," Ratke pointed out. "Auto

Club members should check in at an AAA border office so they can be forewarned of any potential difficulties awaiting them.

Among the things a U.S. citizen should carry is proof of citizenship, usually through a voter's registration card, birth certificate or passport. A driver's license does not constitute proof of citizenship.

Juvenile code needs change to meet 'growing problem'

One Michigan legislator feels it is time for changes in the state's juvenile code to cope with growing youth crime problem.

House Republican Leader Dennis Cawthorne said: "It's time the Legislature faced up to its responsibilities in rewriting the code so we can cope with a situation which is rapidly getting out of control."

"In view of the increasing seriousness of the juvenile situation in Michigan, I do not believe the people can be asked to tolerate much further delay in improving the system."

Legislation restructuring the code is being aired by a special subcommittee of the House Judiciary Committee, now meeting at several locations around the state. However, Cawthorne said that rival bills on the subject are "too weak" and fail to give juvenile judges the tools that they need to combat the problem. (House Bill 6034, which deals with the restructuring of the code, was introduced in the House by Cawthorne.)

"My bill is firm, but fair," he continued. "It was drafted by a broad-based group of probate judges, educators, social workers, law enforcement organizations, women's groups, parents and lawyers."

Cawthorne said the bill has been endorsed by the State Bar of Michigan, Probate Judges

Juvenile code needs change to cope with problems

Association, Children's Charter and the director of the Michigan State Police.

"The bill truly represents a moderate approach to improved juvenile justice," he added. "It protects the public from injury and damage from delinquency and protects youngsters from neglectful and assaultive parents."

"It also provides resources for rehabilitation and treatment of juveniles in need of these services."

'I am positive that the public wants a juvenile code...'

A key provision of the Cawthorne bill is the designation of "juvenile offenders", which applies to minors between 15 and 18 years of age who commit acts that would be felonies if committed by an adult. Such persons could be placed for up to three years in a secure detention. "Other proposals dealing with juvenile problems take either a kid glove approach or are so harsh that no consideration is given to the age of the delinquent," he continued. "I am positive that the public wants a juvenile code which gives law enforcement and juvenile court officers more tools than they have at present, but also recognizes that a juvenile offender is not the same as an adult criminal."

House Bill 6034 provides two other categories of minors who would become involved with the juvenile court. They are the victims of abuse or neglect and the "status offenders", which include runaways and incorrigibles.

Runaways, truants and incorrigibles would remain under the jurisdiction of the court unlike other pending legislation. However, the court would have to conduct a separate hearing and find that voluntary community resources could not help that particular case.

In all cases of confinement juveniles would be separated from adult offenders and from juveniles being held in one of the other categories.

Tax credit forms available

State Rep. Thomas Brown (D-37th District) is reminding all residents who have attained, or will attain, their 65th birthday during 1976 that the Michigan Department of Treasury has issued the new forms for property tax credit claims.

Brown said the forms were mailed out by third class mail from Lansing and that all senior citizens who filed a claim in prior years should have received a form by now. Anyone who has not received a form and would like one can do so by calling Rep. Thomas H. Brown at (517) 373-1706, or pick one up at the Dearborn Office located at 23400 Michigan Avenue, Dearborn, Michigan.

For the first time in the history of Michigan, property tax credits can be made to the extent of $1,200 whereas in the past the maximum was $500.

Motion carried.

Sewer connection for the new Tyler Road Elementary School was discussed. Prior to proceeding to expedite a temporary connection to the Jackson Street sewer on the south side of Tyler Road, Van Buren Township Board has requested that the Van Buren Board of Education approve a resolution to the effect that when sewer facilities are available on the north side of Tyler Road, a permanent connection will then be made. Motion by Robert Cook, supported by William McCollum, that when sewer facilities become available on the north side of Tyler Road in the vicinity of the new Tyler Road Elementary School, the Van Buren Board of Education will proceed to have the temporary connection to the Jackson Street sewer disconnected and a permanent connection made to the new sewer line on the north side of Tyler Road. Motion carried.

Roger Benner, Director of Adult Education at Huron School District, presented a resolution pertaining to Adult Education in cooperation with the Huron School District. The program is for senior citizens and is presently being held in the United Methodist Church in Belleville and the Van Buren Convalescent Home. Program already in progress but this is the first year the State of Michigan has set up guidelines that requires approval of both school boards involved. There would be no charge to the school district for the continuation of this program. Motion by William McCollum, supported by Elwood Bos, to approve resolution between Van Buren Public Schools and Huron School District for Adult Education as presented with change of wording in item 3 of agreement to read "United Methodist Church and Van Buren Convalescent Home" as previously discussed. Motion carried.

A letter from Rev. Larry D. Rudder, Pastor of the Edgemont Bible Church, requesting use of Edgemont School on Sunday mornings for approximately three months beginning November 14, 1976 was presented. All costs to be reimbursed by the church. Motion by Doris Roe, supported by Richard Muse, to approve request as presented with conditions set forth by the Building and Grounds Supervisor. Motion carried.

Comments were heard from visitors regarding the Spring Musical Program. Considerable discussion was held. President Hamilton appointed a committee consisting of Doris Roe, Chairman; William McCollum, and Richard Muse to meet with citizens' committee to discuss ways in which musical could be financed without use of school district funds and report findings back to Board.

Management study ends phase of plan preparations

A report on the findings of a management study of sewage collection and treatment agencies in southeastern Michigan has been presented to the Executive Committee of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The study, which was prepared under contract by the Research Group of Atlanta, Ga., represents the conclusion of just one part of the program to prepare a management plan to improve water quality in southeastern Michigan. Such a plan is called for in the Clean Water Act, passed by Congress in 1972.

The Clean Water Act gives local elected officials in southeastern Michigan two years to develop an areawide plan to control both point sources of pollution — such as discharges from municipal treatment plants and industries — and to control nonpoint water pollution — pollution that is the result of stormwater drainage from large geographical areas.

Under provisions of the law, SEMCOG has received a $5.1 million grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to prepare this plan.

"It is in essence a management plan for, first, implementing local facility planning that is going on in a number of jurisdictions in the region," said Edmund Armentrout, vice-president of the Research Group, in his remarks to the Executive Committee. "And it is, second, the point at which the point sources of pollution control and the nonpoint sources of pollution control are integrated."

Speaking of the study which had just been completed, Armentrout said its purpose was "to look at the structural controls for point source pollution and examine the management agencies that are involved in operating, maintaining, funding and regulating the facilities for wastewater collection and treatment in the region."

The study showed that: —Michigan law provides sufficient authority for wastewater treatment agencies to meet the requirements of the Clean Water Act, but the variety of laws involved is confusing.

—Reflecting the wide range of laws under which they operate, numerous types of agencies — from city and county-run agencies to special purpose agencies formed by intergovernmental contract — are involved in point source pollution control.

—While counties have the geographical scope to address point source pollution control concerns, they can only respond to requests from local communities and, consequently, cannot act on their own to solve a point source pollution problem.

—Widespread consolidation of wastewater treatment has already occurred within Southeastern Michigan with the eight largest operators responsible for about 98 percent of the wastewater treatment services provided to the region's residents.

—Without the ability to consolidate their operations with larger municipal system, rural municipalities must continue to operate their own point source pollution control programs.

—Some changes to Act 233 would be necessary to allow operating authorities formed under this law to perform all necessary management requirements of the Clean Water Act.

—While sufficient authority to meet the requirements of the Clean Water Act is provided by Michigan law, in many cases, this authority is not being used.

—The present system does appear to be working, but it lacks an institutional mechanism for effectively coordinating wastewater management activities of operating agencies and nonpoint water pollution control programs throughout the region.

Summaries of the report, entitled "An Assessment of the Present System for Managing Point Source Pollution Control Programs in the Southeast Michigan Region," are available from the SEMCOG Information Services Office, 800 Book Building, Detroit, Mi. 48226, or by calling SEMCOG at 961-4266.

Santa, please

Santa Claus got an extra big hug from one Mt. Pleasant Elementary School student to make sure the Jolly Old Elf got her request this year. Christy Miller and Gayle Campbell hammed it for ANP

Photographer Mike Higgins during the Romulus school's annual Christmas program. From the size of the youngster's smile, the program was a hit with Santa and the students alike.

Raise roof for palm

If you grow the reed palm (Chamaedorea seifrizii), you may have to raise the roof a bit. This lacy palm with its long, narrow leaflets may reach 8 feet in height.

Michigan State University horticulturists say the reed palm prefers temperatures on the warm side. Daytime temperatures may be as high as 80 degrees, with minimum night temperatures of 62-65 degrees.

Pot the plant in a standard potting soil mix made of equal parts loam, sand and peat; and keep the soil evenly moist. Set in a shaded spot where it will get no direct sun and fertilize monthly during the growing season (spring through fall).

Because of its size and interesting lacy texture, the reed palm makes a handsome specimen plant for table, floor or pedestal. It looks right at home on a porch, patio or screened room in the summer.

Avoid the urge to repot frequently, the experts advise. Overpotting often leads to overwatering, which in turn causes yellowing of foliage and slowdown of growth.

Overwatering is especially likely to occur during the winter when the plant is semidormant, the horticulturists caution. They recommend watering sparingly — give the plant only enough water to keep the soil from drying out.

Though the reed palm can be propagated from seed, it's a long time from seed to good-sized plant. The MSU experts advise buying a suitably sized plant rather than growing one from seed.

A common problem with the reed palm is browning of the leaf tips. This may be caused by too hot, too dry air; too much fertilizer; or too dry soil. Brown leaves may be cut out to improve the plant's appearance.

Gov. Milliken says

Revisions needed to make tax equitable

Gov. William Milliken said administration of Michigan's property tax system could become more uniform and the tax burden more fairly distributed if the principal recommendations of his Advisory Task Force on Property Tax Revision are adopted.

Milliken made that statement in remarks at the annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

"Over the years, as the property tax system has been periodically studied and amended, a number of major changes have occurred," the governor said. "I am sure you are familiar with most — if not all — of them."

Milliken went on to say that the force's "most significant observation is that the property tax should not be eliminated, nor entirely replaced by some other form of taxation."

"The task force strongly recommends that real property be equalized by class," he added. "One aspect of that goal would be to insure that the tax burden of residential property, for example, is not shifted on to agricultural property. This is particularly important to agricultural taxpayers whose tax base is growing at the rate of 10 percent a year."

The other recommendations of the task force include:

— Establishment of qualification standards for persons serving on boards of review, and creation of three separate divisions of the State Tax Tribunal.

— Improvement in the still new equal-yield concept in school financing.

— Replacement of the specific mobile home tax with either a personal property tax, based on value, or a variable fee based on size.

— Replacement of complex property tax relief formulas with a simplified single formula.

The task force, headed by Lt. Gov. James Damman, released its report in Lansing earlier this month, concluding that "the overall property tax system in Michigan is basically satisfactory — although needing some improvements."

According to Milliken, the 1973 property tax relief program has provided almost $400 million in relief and "promises and estimated $215 million or more of continuing relief to home owners and renters in the coming year."

Milliken also told the farm group that he "will not give up" seeking land use legislation and that he intends to pursue the issue in the 1977 legislative session.

Milliken renewed his call for legislative adoption of a budget stabilization fund, as a means of keeping the state budget on even keel as the economy swings from goods years to bad.

Voters' rejection of Proposal C in the November election mandates some such program (a constitutional ceiling on state spending).

Milliken in commenting on the rejection said: "I do not regard the voters rejection of Proposal C as a mandate to spend."

"Each year demands for state services and for state support increase," he added. "And each year it seems to become more difficult to find the resources to cover these increased costs."

That is why I endorse the concept of a budget stabilization fund, so that in good times we can automatically divert part of our surplus into a reserve fund to provide the cushion we need when times are not so good.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

RE: RELATIVE TO ADOPTION OF A FACILITIES PLAN AND ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT PROPOSED ALTERNATIVES IN FACILITY PLANNING STUDY OF POLLUTION ABATEMENT OF ECORSE CREEK-NORTH BRANCH OF ECORSE CREEK DRAIN IMPROVEMENT AND SEXTON KILFOIL DRAIN, COMMONLY KNOWN AS THE SOUTH BRANCH OF ECORSE CREEK DRAIN

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Wayne County Drain Commissioner and the Drainage Boards for the above-named intra-county drains in Wayne County, Michigan, will hold a Public Hearing on the proposed Element number 2 of Facility Planning Study of Pollution Abatement of Ecorse Creek - North Branch of Ecorse Creek Drain Improvement and Sexton Kilfoil Drain, commonly known as the South Branch of Ecorse Creek Drain, for the purpose of receiving comments and views of interested persons. Detailed information is available for the review of any interested person or group and includes a copy of the project application and the draft of the Environmental Assessment Statement. The hearing will be held at

Date	Place	Time
January 27, 1977	Allen Park City Hall 16850 Southfield Road Allen Park, Michigan 48101	7:00 E.S.T.

Three alternatives to abate pollution are outlined in the Facilities Planning Study. The three alternatives, denoted as 1, 2, and 3 are:

Alternative 1 - Separation of Combined Sewers
Alternative 1 presents the concept of separation of combined sewers as a means of achieving pollution abatement of the Ecorse River Basin. With this alternative the combined sewers, pipes used to transport both sanitary sewage and storm runoff, would be eliminated by construction of either sanitary or storm sewers. The sanitary sewage would then be collected and transported to a treatment facility and the storm runoff collected and discharged to the surface waters of the Ecorse River Basin. The project cost associated with Alternative 1 is $45,672,000.

Alternative 2 - Storage and Treatment of Combined Sewer Overflows with Partial Separation of Combined Sewers

Alternative 2 presents the concept of storage and treatment of combined sewage overflows with partial separation as a means of achieving pollution abatement of the Ecorse River Basin. With this alternative, it is proposed to separate the extreme upstream combined sewers of the basin, divert pure storm runoff from the LeBlanc Drain (which will be used as a combined sewer interceptor) at an upstream point and store and treat the remaining combined sewage overflows. The project cost associated with Alternative 2 is $24,545,000.

Alternative 3 - Storage and Treatment of Combined Sewage Overflows with the Existing Tributary Basin

Alternative 3 will present the technique of storage and treatment of combined sewage overflows with the existing tributary basin and examine the pollution control level attainable with this concept. With this alternative, it is proposed to intercept, store and treat the combined sewage overflows from the combined sewer areas of the Ecorse River Basin without any major modification to the internal city systems. The project cost associated with Alternative 3 is $14,402,000.

Open Channel or Enclosure of open drains are not included in any of the three alternatives.

It is the purpose of this hearing to receive comments on the environmental assessment of each of the proposed alternatives.

Copies of the proposed plan will be available for public inspection at public office as follows:

County officials get raises

Salary increases will take effect Jan. 1 for most Wayne County officials and Circuit Court judges. The county Board of Commissioners approved the hikes at a Dec. 16 meeting after deliberating for three weeks over increases recommended by the county Civil Service Commission. In most instances, the increases were less than recommended by the commission.

Increases for elected officials, including 26 of the 27 county commissioners, were limited to $2,190. A $3,000 special adjustment was added for the chairman of the Board of Commissioners, raising his salary from $17,500 to $22,690.

Commissioner Richard E. Manning, chairman of the Board committee which studied the Civil Service recommendations, said the higher adjustment for chairman reflects "the increasingly demanding duties and fulltime nature of that office."

Salaries of county commissioners were raised from $14,000 to $16,190. The board's vice-chairman was hiked from $15,000 to $17,190.

The 33 Circuit Court judges got $2,247 increases—from $42,175 to $44,422—in order to maintain their long-standing parity with the Detroit Recorder's Court bench.

Nineteen elected and appointed officials and their deputies got $2,190 hikes. John Barr, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, described the increases as "fully justified" because of inflation.

Barr pointed out that the commissioners had to act before Jan. 1 or be precluded from raises for the next two years. A state statute requires county boards to set their own compensation and prohibits them from increasing it during a term of office.

"Public officials are like anyone else," Barr commented. "We have families to support. Inflation has taken a big chunk out of our paychecks. And we are working harder than ever due to the many serious public problems that exist."

"These increases are extremely modest in comparison with the 22-45 percent increases recommended for state officials by the State Officers Compensation Commission."

The increases will cost $194,700 in 1977 out of a $364.7 million budget.

The vote for the raises was 20-4. Some 80 members of appointed boards and commissions that are paid on a per-meeting basis received $10 increases. Most now receive $35 per meeting. The three members of the county road commission got a $2,190 hike in their $8,000 annual compensation.

Preps greet holidays with tourneys

'Dogging it'

Wayne Memorial's Tim Couch (5) finds an obstacle en route to the basket in the form of Taylor Center's J.J. Burgines (22) as he drives in for this "dog shot" in Friday's Great Lakes 8 Conference confrontation. Though Couch made this shot and picked up 19 points, it wasn't enough as Wayne lost the battle 67-44. Coach Bill Hawley's Zebras will head for Belleville Wednesday and Thursday where they will compete in the annual Holiday Tournament. Wayne clashes with Belleville in the first round, (Wednesday) at 8 p.m.

Belleville to host area teams

Sports

If you're looking for some pre-Christmas basketball action, Belleville High is the place to be. Belleville is the host for the annual Western Wayne Holiday Basketball Tournament which will bring together area teams Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn and Cherry Hill which will be out to unseat the host as champ.

"We won the tournament last year," Tom Niemi, Belleville High head coach said. "But we're going to have a tough time repeating."

(Wayne is 3-2, while Cherry Hill has a 4-2 record and John Glenn sports a 6-1 mark.)

"I feel this is going to be a very interesting tournament," Niemi added.

Wednesday's pairing pit Cherry Hill against John Glenn (6 p.m.) while Wayne Memorial takes on Belleville at 8 p.m. on Thursday.

there will be a consolation game at 6:00 p.m. and the championship will be decided at 8 p.m.

Glenn's Gordie Davis pointed out "that there will be four good teams at the tournament."

"I think the title is up for grabs," Davis said, "even though some of the teams don't have fantastic records like they did a year ago, they are very explosive. We beat Cherry Hill by 17 earlier this year but they're tough - and the point spread was no indication of the closeness of our game."

A post Christmas tournament at Detroit Northwestern High is on Romulus. Coach Jesse Meriweather's schedule. The first round will be held on Wed, Dec. 29 and the championship the following day.

Along with Romulus and Northwestern, perennial Detroit Public School League powerhouses Northern and Mumford will be in the title chase.

Northern is the defending champ. Pairings for the tournament were to be held Wednesday at Northwestern.

'Excessive traveling' detours Romulus High's Eagles

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Romulus cagers learned the ambiguous meaning of "traveling" the hard way Friday night at Milan. Coach Jesse Meriweather's Eagles, who have been on the road four of their first five games, were tagged with a rash of "traveling" violations in their game at Milan which led to turnovers and a 56-50 setback.

"Some of those calls, especially in the fourth period, were very questionable," Meriweather remarked, "but there's nothing you can do except bite your lip and hope for the best."

In this case, the best Romulus could do was to refrain from dribbling and try to make every shot count. The Eagles worked their way to a 12-10 first period lead, but fell behind at halftime when Milan outscored their visitors 23-14 in the second period.

With Wendell Buckley sinking seven points, Romulus erased a 33-26 deficit and went ahead 42-41 for three quarters. However, Milan held the Eagles to six points in the final eight minutes while they collected 16 to hand Romulus its third loss in five starts.

Buckley finished with 14 points, his team's high while Gary Wurster and Kirk Dingmon had 17 and 16 for the winners and Dennis VanWasshnga added 12.

Tigers nipped by Redford

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Tom Niemi must be feeling the way Napoleon felt after the Russian campaign.

His - Niemi's not Napoleon's - troops battered, the Belleville High cage strategist retreated from Redford Union last Friday feeling that victory was his, but, in reality, the Tigers had lost a close 62-59 decision.

The loss left Belleville with a 1-2 Suburban 8 Conference basketball record. The Tigers are 1-4 on the over-all season.

"We outrebounded them, outshot them but I guess it's the final score that counts," Niemi said. "We're really disappointed, however, we can't take anything away from Patterson (Kelvin), he played one heck of a ballgame."

Patterson, an up-and-coming sophomore, drilled in a career high 14 field goals and hit two free throws from 32 points, the game's high. He was the only member of the Tiger team to reach double figures.

Belleville's defense had its problems with 6-5 forward, Mike Petsch who accounted for 27 points. He received support from Jim Grimwade and John Gazley who added 13 and 12 points, respectively.

Belleville took a 14-9 first period lead but Redford Union counter-attacked in the next eight minutes and outscored the Tigers 19-14 to tie the game at intermission 28-28.

The duel developed into a see-sawing affair in the second half, neither team managing to break away. Grimwade's two free throws with less than a minute to go moved R.U. up by three and Roy Rutherford's jumper cut the lead to 60-59.

However, the Tigers fouled again, this time Petsch got the opportunity and he made two free throws to ice it.

Belleville had the edge in rebounds 42-27 with Patterson and Rutherford counting 16 and 12. Belleville shot 39 percentage (26 of 70) as compared to Redford Union's 37 percentage (23 of 62).

Redford Union, however, had the edge at the free throw line where it had 29 opportunities and cashed in one 16 as compared to Belleville's 7 of 11 output.

"Do you know that there is only a spread of seven points that could make us a 4-1 team instead of a 1-4 club," said Niemi. "We lost two games by three points and one by one point."

Unfortunately we can't change history.

Belleville swim team undefeated

By TOM MOORADIAN

Belleville tankers have earned a rest for the holidays.

But the Tigers don't expect Coach Sam Vicchy to call time out for the holidays. In fact, they'll be putting in extra time to get ready for the second half of the season.

Belleville dunked out-of-the league rival Southgate 118-58 to remain undefeated on the season and 6-0 on the current campaign.

"The boys are doing the job," Vicchy said. "But, when you have teams like Dearborn and Edsel Ford in your league you just can't ease up, can you."

Dearborn is a perennial Class A state title hopeful and Edsel Ford is always right up in the top 10 in the state.

Belleville swept nine of the possible 11 first places against Southgate with Howard Renton accounting for two events. Renton churned a 1:54.7 in winning the 200-yard freestyle, while he was clocked in the winning time of 52.2 to take the 100-yard freestyle.

Earlier in the week Belleville knocked off area rival, Livonia Franklin, 82-70, as Harold Gable, Ron Curtis, Scott Hennells and Rusty Bearance contributed the medley relay in 1:48.7.

Bearance won the 50-yard freestyle (24.2) while the diving went to Dana Thorp, and Ron Curtis was the top 100-yard backstroke (59.9).

Belleville also won the 100-yard breaststroke with Scott Hennells, (1:07.9).

Come-from-behind swim win keeps Wayne perfect

Down by as much as 22 points after the fifth event, Wayne Memorial came back to edge Ypsilanti 87-85 in a non-conference dual swim meet.

The come-from-behind victory enabled Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras to win their third dual meet in as many starts and remain undefeated on the season.

The key to the turn-around win, according to Coach McPartlin, was Wayne's freestyle relay teams which finished second and third and contributed six pivotal points.

"Also, Stabler (Karl) and Watts (Jim) did an excellent job for us," McPartlin added.

Stabler was a double winner, finishing first in the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:17.6 and also tucking away the 100-yard backstroke event in the Wayne column.

Watts turned in his best time ever in the 100-yard butterfly (1:06.1) in finishing second to teammate Mike Balwinski (1:04.6) and ahead of another mate, Chuck Smallman (1:07.0).

Wayne has defeated Farmington 108-68 and Dearborn Heights Crestwood 108-64 in earlier meets and hosted its inaugural Relays Tuesday night. The invitational includes teams from Cherry Hill, Lincoln Park, Crestwood, Taylor Truman, Taylor Center and Wayne Memorial.

Injuries take their toll

Franklin falls to North

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

A freak mishap during a gym class has sidelined Livonia Franklin's leading scorer Ken Scarpace.

Franklin's rugged Mike Kaseta reinjured his knee and may need an operation.

Two other Franklin starters also are on the hurt or injury list.

That's the kind of season it has been for Coach Bob Visser whose Patriots dropped a 50-45 decision last Friday to North Farmington.

The loss evened up the defending champs' league record to 1-1 on the year.

"There's nothing we can do about these injuries," moaned Visser. "It's been that kind of year."

We're going to have to bring up a couple of junior varsity players to fill our ranks."

Franklin's loss left Westland John Glenn, which downed Thurston 74-62, in the Northwest Suburban Conference's driver's seat. But, Visser, noted, "no one should be comfortable in this league - anything can happen."

Playing without Scarpace who suffered a deep gash on the back of his right foot when he went through a glass gym window, Franklin changed its tactics to accommodate its personnel.

"We played for the percentage shots," Visser explained, "and I thought we did an excellent job until we become careless in the closing minutes."

North Farmington, making its Northwest Suburban debut, was up 12-6 after one period and hung on 21-17 at halftime. Unable to get the lead, Franklin also trailed 36-20 in the end of the third period but outscored their rivals 15-14 in the final eight minutes of the game.

"We had our opportunities, especially at the free throw line, to win this game," Visser said. "We pride ourselves of being good free throw shooters but we didn't do the job here."

Franklin made five of 11 foul offerings as compared to North's 10 of 18.

Jeff Phillips paced Franklin's scoring attack with 19 points, tops for the game. North's Mike Garcia was close behind with 18.

Franklin had little trouble with

Wayne '5' muffs opportunity to get slice of first place

"Golden Opportunities" are as rare as the "dodo bird", but Wayne had one - an opportunity - to move into first place last week and miffed it.

The Zebras, instead, by losing to Taylor Center 67-44, dropped into a two-way tie for second (if you're an optimist) and fifth (if you're a pessimist).

With Monroe edging previously undefeated Fordson, there are five teams - Fordson, Wyandotte, Taylor Center, Taylor Truman and Lincoln Park jammed in first with 2-1 records, while Monroe and Wayne Memorial are next with 1-2 marks and Riverview is winless in three starts.

"We had our chances," said Wayne Coach Bill Hawley, "and failed to capitalize on them. However, with that loss to Fordson we're not out of this thing yet."

"I feel we'll have something to say about who'll wear the crown," he added.

In what was tagged a "superbly played defensive game" with both teams playing methodic ball, Taylor Center earned a 9-5 first period lead.

Wayne unsuccessfully played "catch-up" the rest of the way. Trailing 28-19 at the half, Wayne fell further behind when Taylor's Tyrone Jordan hit on four baskets early in the third period to widen the gap.

The Rams increased their margin to 44-27 for three-periods, then went on to outscore their visitors 23-17 in the final period.

"We're disappointed in the way we played," Hawley offered. "We had an horrendous shooting night."

Wayne hit on 15 of 60 from the field for a mere 25 percent while Taylor sank 26 of 45, well over 50 percent. Also, Taylor capitalized on 13 of 22 free throws and, thanks to Jim Lentine, Wayne realized 14 of 22 at the line.

Lentine had a perfect eight for eight at the free throw line and in the last three games the senior guard has made 27 of 28 fouls. He finished the night with 14 points, only one of two Wayne cagers in double figures.

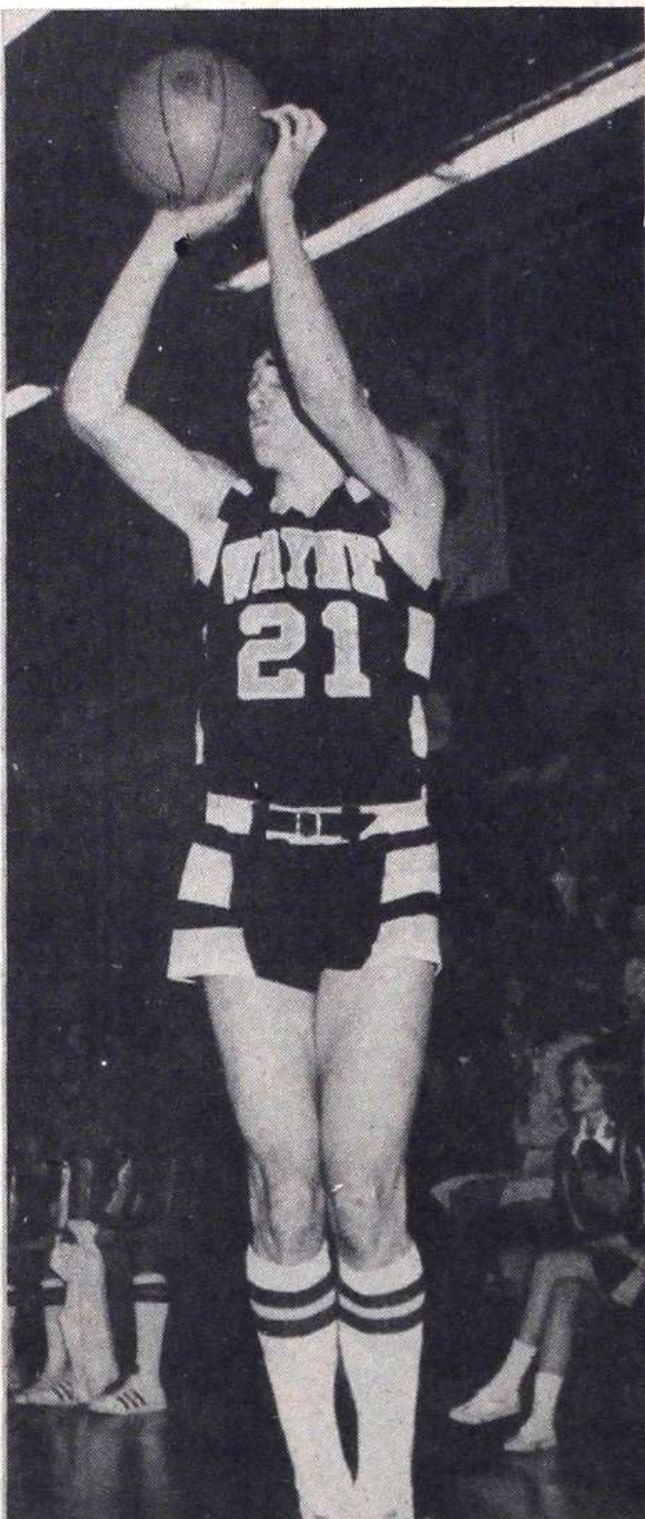

Tim Couch was the only other Wayneite who reached two figures. Couch contributed eight field goals and three of four free throws for 19 points, his team's high.

Jordan's 23 points, however, stood up as the night's best individual scoring performance.

Coast is clear

Getting off this jumper is Wayne Memorial's captain Mike Singleton (21) who along with his teammates had problems finding the bucket against a tough Taylor Center defense. Singleton and the Zebras suffered their second Great Lakes 8 Conference setback, however, a loss by previously undefeated Fordson threw the title race wide open. Wayne figures to have something to say about the eventual champ before the season ends.

'The Bird' to appear at RHS

If you didn't see Detroit Tiger rookie pitching sensation Mark "The Bird" Fidrych in action last summer, you can catch him and some of his teammates' act at Romulus on Jan. 7.

Fidrych, the American League's Rookie of the Year will head a delegation of Tigers including Mickey Stanley, Vern Ruhle, Ben Oglivie, Jim Crawford, Tom Veryzer, Danny Meyer, Jerry Manuch and Marvin Lane to Romulus for a benefit basketball game.

The proceeds of the game will help finance the high school's spring sports program. Tickets at the door are $3, pre-sales, $2.50.

"We don't have to tell anyone what the financial situation in our school district is," said Fred Coleman, who is chairman of the project. "Basketball and wrestling were almost wiped out because of the lack of funds."

"We're hoping that this game will provide us with enough cash to keep our sports programs alive," Coleman added.

Cherry Hill bows, 55-48

Cold night kills Spartans

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Taylor Kennedy nudged Cherry Hill off of the top of the Tri-River Conference basketball standings, drawing first blood 55-48 Friday night.

The loss cost Coach Dick McNally and his Spartans a share of first place, but McNally is quick to point out, "that we'll be back."

"We were really cold," McNally said. "We missed about 22 inside shots and finished with only 18 of 60 from the floor. You won't win many ball games shooting like that."

"In fact, we were so tightened up it became ridiculous," he added.

With previously undefeated Southgate Schafer's loss to Dearborn Heights Crestwood, Kennedy now has sole possession of first.

Playing without their sophomore 6-3 forward, Jamie Michon, who is suffering from a knee ailment, Cherry Hill grabbed a narrow 11-10 first period lead.

Floyd Simmons who collected 13 points, kept the Spartans alive until the third period when they hit a cold spell.

Kennedy had a slim 27-26 halftime lead, then increased it to 37-31 by outscoring their visitors 10-5 in the third period. Though Cherry Hill stayed close on the winner's heels, they never saw the lead again.

"We weren't sharp at all during that second half," McNally commented, "and we're going to have to snap out of it because we have the holiday tournament coming up."

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

If you approach a group of slow-moving cars, assume that something has happened or is about to happen and slow down long before you reach the congested area.

Tap your brakes lightly three or four times as a warning to cars behind you. Should you have to slow down to a crawl, turn on your flashers and reinforce the warning, if possible, by using the left hand stop signal—your arm extended out the window, bent downward at the elbow with the palm of your hand facing the rear.

Glenn cagers cling to lead

Westlanders fast-break past Thurston, 74-62

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Westland John Glenn may be in the Northwest Suburban Conference basketball "driver's seat", but head coach Gordie Davis knows the road to the championship is long, slippery and full of dangers.

Beating Redford Township Thurston 74-62, the Westlanders moved into sole possession of first place. They're 2-0 in the league 6-1 over-all on the year.

The fast-breaking Glenn quintet, sparked by Daran Armstrong and Dan Diadiun, shot their way to a 18-15 lead at Thurston, widened the margin to 37-29 at intermission, then outscored their rivals 20-18 and 17-15 the last two periods.

"Our running game was working well for us," Davis noted, "and we also were able to break their press which were key points in beating them."

"Thurston is a well-coached team and they're going to get their share of victories before this is all over," Davis added.

Armstrong, a sophomore guard who has some excellent moves, fired in 10 field goals to go along with his five free throws to score 25 points, the game's high. Diadiun, Glenn's scoring leader a year ago, continues to play that role as he sank 21 points.

Tom Jurewicz also counted 10 points for the Westlanders who return to the hardwood at the Belleville Holiday Tournament tonight.

Glenn found it difficult stopping Dave Beebe, Thurston's top scorer who picked up 23 points for the evening. Teammate Brian Mulvihill finished with 18.

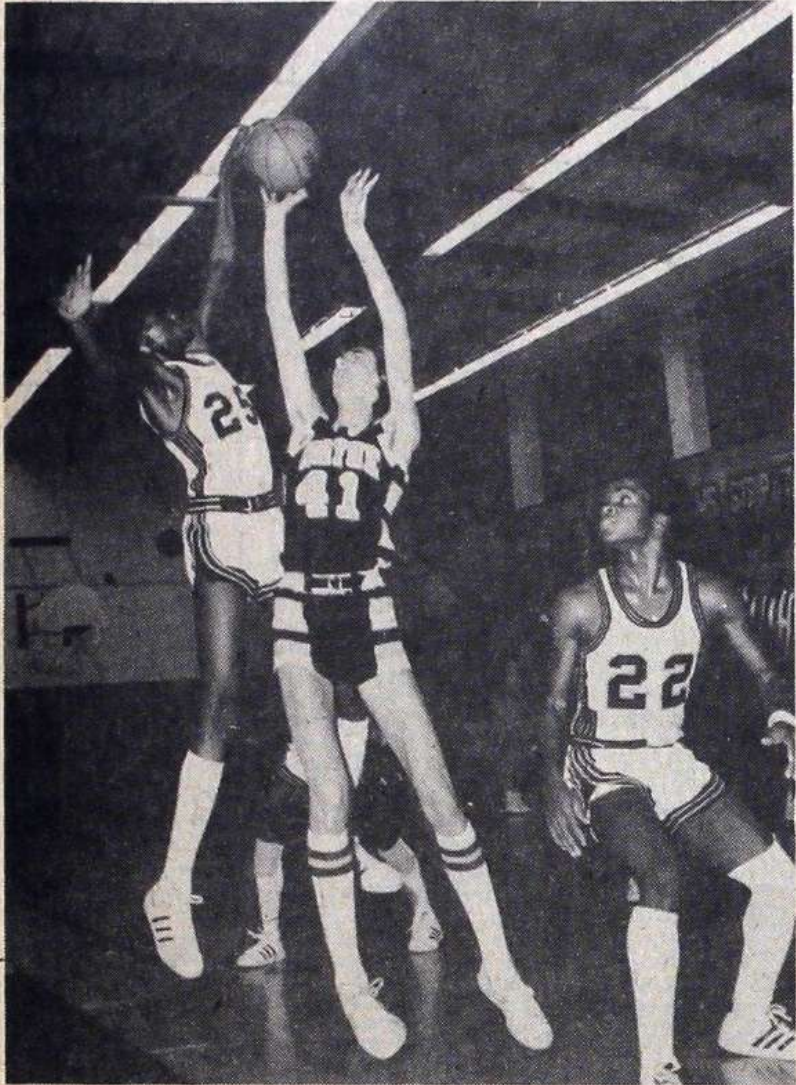

The Westlanders also looked good at the free throw line where they made 12 of 17 shots as compared to Thurston's 8 of 17 effort.

Couple of more awards

Eastern Michigan University football player Al Slamer, who played his high school ball at Wayne Memorial, has won two awards after the 1976 football season. Slamer, a 6-3, 235-pound junior starting defensive tackle is shown here accepting the Harold E. Sponberg Award as EMU's down lineman with the top grade point level, at the 14th annual EMU Football Bust. Slamer was named a first team Mid-American Conference All-Academic pick while posting a 3.61 point average with a major in special education.

Cutting off Glass

Wayne Memorial's Tom Glass (41) has this shot blocked by Taylor Center's Tyrone Jordan (25) who was tagged with a personal foul on the play. When the game ended, Taylor stashed away its second Great Lakes 8 Conference victory and Wayne's record dipped to 1-2 in the league.

Area gridders honored

Four former All-Area gridders were among the 43 members of the 1976 Eastern Michigan University football team that were awarded letters.

The recipients are James Hall, an all-league defensive halfback who prepped at Robichaud and Keith Arnold, a former Inkster High standout.

EMU's rookie head football coach

Ed Chlebek made the awards at the annual Huron Football Bust. Honored as the team's Most Valuable Player on offense was Mark Carter, who is a Bishop Gallagher graduate.

Former Wayne High gridders Sam Still and Al Slamer (see related story on this page) also received their third varsity stripes.

area rival, Garden City West earlier in the week as the Patriots built up an 18-12 first period lead, roared to a 40-23 halftime margin en route to a 69-47 victory.

The Livonians played 10 players with nine finding their way into the scoring column.

In his final game of the year — not season — Scarpace sank eight field goals and two for two at the foul line for a game high 18 points. Teammates Pat Golem and Phillips split 24 points while John Zannis added 10.

Title: "Hi Santa,
It's Me, Billy"

"Hi Santa, it's me, Billy, remember from last year. When I sat upon your knee, and whispered in your ear? Well, Santa, you sure answered me, for that bright red wagon came. And though I didn't ask for it, you even sent a game. But the reason I came back this year, is not to ask for toys cause I'm older this year. Santa, Mama says I'm a real big boy. But after Christmas time last year, when the snow had left the ground. Daddy moved away from home, and he never comes around. Santa, I don't know why he left, but Mama says someday I will. And that things don't always work out like we plan. Even though we hope that they will. She says that Daddy will come back someday. And that he's gone searching for roots. Which brings me to the reason I'm here. Could you please send my Daddy some boots? The wagon was fun to ride in, as Daddy would pull me along. And he never complained about his feet being cold. But often he'd sing a song. "When I get the money, I'll buy me some boots and I'll play with my son in the snow." "But, Santa, somehow that day never came. And he had none when he left, that I know. I remember him kissin me and Mama goodbye. And then saying something about roots. And he said when we saw him again someday He'd be wearin that new pair of boots. Though we don't know where he's living. Santa, we know that you do. And want to know something else, Santa Claus? My Dad looks a whole lot like you. Now, I don't want any toys this year, but. The best gift that I could receive is to know that my Daddy got his new boots. Then maybe he'd come home to live. Well, Thank you for listenin Santa, and in case you don't see me no more, It's cause I'll be even bigger next year. Cause you see, I'm already 4". "Tears filled my eyes as I listened. Then he climbed down off of my knee. And no one else in that whole crowded line. Knew he belonged to me. The fattest child that he had on. And his own little boots I could see. He had a hole in the toe of one of them. How cold his feet must be. His Mom stood there looking rather sad. Yet proud of her little son. For no one but him and Santa knew what had to be done. That night, after hearing the last little girl ask for a dolly that talked. I told her that I would do all that I could. And then I went for a walk. I turned in the Santa suit, beard, hat and boots. But the tears I had to keep. As well as my promise to a little boy, who by now was fast asleep."

5. Personals

I went by a second hand boot shop and tried on a pair just for size. The Lord must have been with me that night, for they fit to my surprise. I found a pair for Billy, and bought them and went on my way. For I had a special delivery to make. Cause tomorrow was Christmas day. I knocked at the door of the home I had left. Almost a year before. And standing there looking sleepy-eyed. Was my little son of 4. "Why, Daddy, Santa's answered, and you're wearin your new boots. Mommy said that you'd be back, Daddy did you find your roots?" "I hugged them both so tenderly, as tears flowed full and free. And then I thanked the Lord above, for the faith that they'd kept in me. Cold and tired but happy, in my boots with my face aglow. For I had found my roots at last, where I'd left them one year ago."

Greetings to All

'Tis the season to be jolly. Time to deck
the halls with boughs of holly. And to say:
peace on Earth . . . good will to men of all nations.

"O star of wonder,
star of night
... Guide us to Thy perfect light"

"We three kings of Orient are; bearing gifts we traverse afar, field and fountain, moor and mountain, following yonder star." Let's remember it's His birthday. Place your faith in His goodness . . . love and charity. Find the wonder in that star's light and kindle it so it shines brightly all the time. Open your heart to peace and brotherhood, and the magic of Christmas will be yours. Live the spirit of the holiday and rejoice.

Happy Holiday

We're wishing folks out there happiness and good health for this season... and all the time.

See us at our new location west of Merriman. Open Mon. 9 to 5 and Sat. 9 to 3.

'TIS THE SEASON TO BE JOLLY!

...Time To Start After Holiday Cash With Associated Newspapers Classified Ads.

Is Santa's visit leaving you a little short on cash? The difference between a never-to-forgotten holiday season and a rather ordinary one, can be the money you easily raise with Classified ads.

The very things Classified shoppers are looking for are those worthwhile things your family no longer uses and enjoys. You quickly reach cash buyers for trains, bikes, sports equipment, cameras, musical instruments, appliances, home furnishings and other things you want to turn into cash with Classified Ads.

Here's how easy it is to put the money-making magic of Classified Ads to work for you. Just go through your home and make a list of the desirable things you own but aren't using. Then dial the number below for a pleasant, helpful Ad Writer. She'll quickly help you write a result-getting ad.

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD...
ASK BOBBIE

LET'S HAM IT UP

- Q. There seem to be so many types of ham. Are they really different?
- A. Yes and no. Ham is meat from the hind leg of a hog. But, it may be fresh, cured, or cured-and-smoked. Basically, you can divide hams into two groups: those you must cook before eating, and those you can eat "as is."
- Q. Which types of ham must be cooked before you eat them?
- A. Hams labeled, "cured" or "cured and smoked" must be cooked before you eat them. Cook them to an internal temperature of 160° F.
- Q. What about "fresh hams" - do they need to be cooked?
- A. Yes. Treat fresh hams the same as fresh pork, and cook to an internal temperature of 170° F. Because they aren't cured, cooked fresh hams look and taste more like pork roasts than what many people usually think of as "ham."
- Q. Which hams can you eat without cooking first?
- A. "Fully cooked" hams and canned hams are cooked thoroughly in processing and are ready to eat. If you prefer them warm, heat to an internal temperature of 150° F.
